A special census of the European in the Municipality was recently taken, as the census of this section of the community, taken in February 1881, was not reliable owing to the European being at a minimum in that month. The number of the natives was not taken. The ratio has consequently been calculated on the revised population under all heads in 1881. The ratio under "All causes" has been calculated under the authorized form of age classes.

The following are the conditions of sale:—

1.—The opium will be sold for exportation by sea only, and no certificate will be granted except to cover such export.

2.—The opium will be ordinarily offered for sale at an upset price of Rs. 800 per chest, and sold to the highest bidder above that price, except under the circumstances for which provision is made by clause 13 of these conditions of sale. The bids must advance by Rs. 5 at a time.

3.—The sale shall commence at the hour of 11 A.M. of the day fixed by previous notification, and shall not be continued after the hour of 5 P.M.; but if at that hour any of the lots advertised for sale shall remain unsold, the sale may, at the discretion of the Board of Revenue, be resumed on the next day following (not being Sunday or a public holiday), at the hour of 11 A.M., and so on until the whole of the remaining lots are disposed of; or, if the whole quantity advertised shall not be sold on the day appointed, the Board of Revenue may dispose of the lots which remain on hand at a future sale.

4.—Each lot shall contain five chests.

5.—A Promissory Note for a sum, calculated according to the scale noted in the margin,

DEPOSIT.
When the amount bid is less than Rs. 1,200 per chest, Rs. 900 per chest.
On bids of Rs. 1,200 and upwards, but less than Rs. 1,800 per chest, Rs. 300 per chest.
On bids of Rs. 1,800 and upwards, but less than Rs. 2,000 per chest, Rs. 400 per chest.
And so on, Rs. 100 being added to the deposit for every bid additional, to the extent of Rs. 400.

shall be taken as a deposit on each lot from the purchaser in the sale-room and before the lot is registered in the sale-book, and all such Promissory Notes shall be redeemed on the part of the purchasers at this Office by Bank of Bengal receipts or by substitution of other public securities of the Government of India, on or before 3-30 P.M. in the afternoon of the fifth day after the sale, provided it does not fall on a Saturday; if it falls on a Saturday, the said notes must be redeemed by 1-30 P.M., or, on the other hand, failing such redemption by the time aforesaid, then the lot or lots for which no Bank of Bengal Receipts or deposit of other public securities as aforesaid shall have been delivered in, shall be re-sold at such time or times and under such conditions of re-sale as the Board of Revenue shall see fit; and all losses and expenses whatsoever attending such re-sale shall be borne and paid by the defaulters, whilst any profit accruing from such re-sale shall be forfeited to Government.

6.—The said Promissory Notes shall be absolutely payable in any event, and the amount thereof shall be absolutely forfeited upon such default as before mentioned, and the amount thereof shall not go or be credited in reduction of any loss on re-sale or expenses thereby incurred, but shall be recoverable whether such re-sale shall be had or not, or whether there shall be a loss on such re-sale or not.

7.—The Promissory Notes taken on the day of sale under the fifth condition, if remaining unredeemed at 3-30 P.M. of the fifth day following the day of sale, or 1-30 P.M. if the last day falls on a Saturday, will be placed in the hands of the Solicitor to the Government for realization in such manner as to him shall seem fit.

8.—No tender of money, Bank of Bengal Receipts, or public securities, on account of opium upon which the prescribed deposit may not have been made before the prescribed time in clause 5 on the fifth day following the day of sale will be afterwards accepted. Provided always that money so subsequently tendered may be taken in payment of the said Promissory Note, but such acceptance of money shall in no way entitle the payer thereof to any right to delivery of the lot or lots in respect whereof the said note was given, or to any of the rights of a purchaser thereof, or release the payer from liability for any unpaid balance of such notes or from the additional liability for the loss and expenses of such re-sale as provided for in clauses No. 5 and No. 6.

9.—The opium advertised for sale shall be paid for not later than by 3-30 P.M. of the fifteenth day from the day of sale, provided it does not fall on a Saturday; if it falls on a Saturday, the opium must be paid for by 1-30 P.M.; and in case any lots of such opium shall not be so paid for and adjusted, then the cash deposit made under the fifth condition, or any public securities that may have been deposited on account of such lots or chests, shall be forfeited, and the opium shall be disposed of on account of Government at such time and in such manner as the Board of Revenue shall think fit; and the first purchaser shall further be required to make good all expenses and any loss or difference of price between that obtained at the re-sale and the amount at which the opium was first purchased, forfeiting all advantages that may arise from such re-sale, and the liability for the loss or difference of price and expenses shall be in addition to, and wholly independent of, the amount of the deposit so forfeited.

10.—Purchasers taking out certificates or orders for the delivery of opium, after making full payment as above prescribed, shall have the option of naming the number of lots of their purchase, which they may desire to be included in each certificate or order; and it is to be clearly understood that the certificates or orders so taken out shall be considered final, and not afterwards changeable for other certificates or orders authorizing the delivery of single lots, or of a different number of lots or chests, whether more or less, than the number of lots or chests originally required to be included in each certificate or order.

11.—No deposit of public securities under the fifth of the present conditions will be received in this office except from the party recorded as the purchaser in the sale-book, or his authorized agent. The receipt for deposit of public securities will be granted only in the name of such purchaser, and the securities so deposited will be returned when payment in full has been made by the said purchaser or his order.

12.—The officer superintending the sale on the part of the Government is empowered to reject, at his discretion, the bid of any individual, unless such individual shall on demand tender at the time a deposit either in Government of India Notes, Bank of Bengal Receipts, or Government Securities, a sum equal to the amount for which a Promissory Note would otherwise be taken under the fifth of these conditions.

13.—With a view to prevent fictitious biddings designed to obstruct the sale, it is hereby notified that the officer of Government superintending the sale shall be competent, at any time during the sale, to withdraw any unsold lot, and immediately to put it up again for sale at a maximum upset price, diminishing the same gradually until a bid is obtained; and the first bond fide bidder for a lot after it has been offered for sale in the mode here described shall be held and declared to be the purchaser of the said lot, and the officer of Government superintending the sale shall also be competent to dispose, in the same manner, of as many of the subsequent lots as he may think proper, provided always that no lot shall be sold below the minimum price of Rs. 800 specified in the second of these conditions.

14.—The purchaser of any lot shall have the option of naming and purchasing in immediate succession, at the same price and under the same conditions, any number of lots of the same Agency opium not exceeding altogether twenty-five lots, provided always that there remain a sufficient number of lots of the opium to complete the said twenty-five.

15.—In the event of any dispute or difference touching or concerning any matter or question arising out of the sale of the opium included in this notification, or adjustment of the account thereof, the same shall and may be tried and decided in the High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal.

16.—The following papers will be exhibited for inspection on the day of sale, or may be seen previously to that date by personal application at the Office of the Board of Revenue:—No. 1, certificate of the opium advertised for sale; No. 2, report of the examination of such opium.

17.—The public are hereby informed that in providing the investment of the opium manufactured at the Patna Factory and the opium manufactured at the Ghazepore Factory for the year 1886-87, the same precautions have been taken as those which have been observed during past years to have the drug procured and sent down in a pure state, to have only the prescribed quantity of leaves used in forming the cakes, and to have the due proportion of opium put into each cake. An account of the weight of the drug when packed at the Patna and Ghazee-pore Factories, and a statement of the average weight of the chests, indiscriminately taken, for the purpose of comparison, from the despatches on arrival at Calcutta, may be seen on personal application at the Office of the Board of Revenue.

18.—Any further information respecting weight or quality of the opium advertised for sale that may be desired by parties connected with the trade will, as heretofore, be furnished to them on personal application at the Office of the Board of Revenue. But, in accordance with established usage, under no circumstances will the Board of Revenue entertain or recognize any claim to compensation for loss from any alleged deficiency of weight, abstraction of opium, or adulteration of the drug, which may be preferred on reference to chests after the sale and delivery of the opium for shipment.

By order of the Board of Revenue, L.P.,

K. G. GUPTA,

Offg. Secretary.

RESOLUTION ON THE ANNUAL REPORT OF THE GOVERNMENT CINCHONA PLANTATION AND CINCHONA FACTORY IN BENGAL FOR THE YEAR 1886-87.

FINANCIAL DEPARTMENT—MISCELLANEOUS.

Calcutta, the 22nd November 1887.

RESOLUTION.

READ—

Annual Report of the Government Cinchona Plantation and Cinchona Factory in Bengal for the year 1886-87.

The chief incident in the history of the cinchona plantation for the year was the occurrence, during a heavy downfall of rain in the month of June, of a number of landslips by which no fewer than 300,000 cinchona trees—some of them amongst the best on the estate—were hopelessly destroyed. This is the severest accident of the kind that has occurred since the plantation was begun twenty-five years ago. The accident was fortunately attended by but little loss of life. A hailstorm at an earlier part of the season also destroyed 20,000 promising young trees.

2. The policy of substituting yellow and hybrid for red-bark cinchona trees is being steadily carried out by the Superintendent. During the year under review about 300,000 red cinchona trees were uprooted for the sake of their bark, while 389,000 calisaya trees and hybrids were planted. As the bark of the two latter yields quinine, while the red-bark can be converted economically only into cinchona febrifuge, this policy is a good one; and if it be steadily pursued during the next seven or eight years, the red-bark trees now growing on these plantations should be completely worked out, and the Government should have on its hands a cinchona estate from which pure quinine and some combination of quinine and cinchonidine (probably a tartrate) should be produced at almost as cheap a rate as the present febrifuge. The plantation is worked solely with a view to the requirements of the factory, these in turn being governed by the demand for febrifuge. And as the consumption of febrifuge has of late been materially affected by the extraordinary cheapness of quinine, the plantation has been called upon to produce a comparatively small crop. The crop of the year (225,631 pounds) was harvested at a total cost of a fraction over $5\frac{1}{4}$ annas per pound. This compares favourably with the outturn of the Madras Government's plantations on the Nilgiris, which is shown in the report for the same year to have cost a little over $10\frac{1}{4}$ annas per pound. The whole of the crop was made over to the factory for conversion into febrifuge.

3. The cost price of the raw material used in the factory during the year was Rs. 73,548, and the cost of working this up (i.e., the factory expenditure proper) was Rs. 20,480. The outturn of the factory, on the other hand, consisted of 6,641 pounds of ordinary and 149 pounds of crystalline febrifuge, the value of which, at Rs. 16-8 and Rs. 24 per pound, respectively, amounts to Rs. 1,13,152; and of this outturn 5,885 pounds were taken off by the Medical Departments and the general public. The sales during the year were thus better by 385 pounds than those of the previous year, but they fall far short of those for the years 1881 to 1884, when, owing to the great demand for febrifuge consequent on the high price of quinine, the plantation and factory were worked up to their full producing power. The cheapness of quinine was not, however, the only cause of the comparatively small demand for febrifuge, for the Medical Departments were under the necessity of working off the considerable stocks which they still hold of English quinetum—a preparation similar to febrifuge, of which the Secretary of State sent out a large quantity some years ago.

4. If the realizations for febrifuge and bark during the year and the stock in hand at the end of it be put against the working expenditure, there is a balance in favour of the plantation (i.e., a profit) of Rs. 18,404. This is a much less favourable result than was obtained in several former years. Looked at from a purely commercial point of view, the year has been a bad one—the price of quinine and consequently of all cinchona products having fallen below the lowest previously recorded limits. From another and higher point of view, however, the low price of quinine is most satisfactory; for the cheapening of this invaluable drug cannot fail to be an advantage to the Indian population, and is indeed the very result which Government proposed to itself in originally introducing cinchona cultivation into the country. The present low price of cinchona bark (and therefore of quinine) can, however, hardly be expected to continue. The real cause of it is understood to be the enormous export from Ceylon, where the cinchona trees having become almost universally unhealthy, they are being rapidly uprooted to make way for tea. This abnormal export—averaging fifteen million pounds annually for the last three years—cannot possibly be long maintained, as no new cinchona plantations are being made. When it ceases, cinchona bark must again in all probability increase in price. In the meantime the Superintendent should keep down expenditure on the Government plantations as far as may be practicable; and the experiments in the manufacture of quinine, which are understood to be in progress at the factory, should be pushed on.

5. The Lieutenant-Governor observes with approval that the firewood plantation above the factory is being extended. The formation of this plantation is a wise measure, and is especially deserving of imitation in a district which is becoming so rapidly denuded of timber as is the cultivated part of British Sikkim.

6. The favourable report given by Dr. King of the good work done by Mr. Gammie and his son and also by Mr. Pantling is noted with satisfaction. The thanks of Government are due to Dr. King for his administration of the plantations and the factory during the year.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

COLMAN MACAULAY,

Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

RESOLUTION ON THE GENERAL ADMINISTRATION REPORT OF THE BURDWAN DIVISION FOR THE YEAR 1886-87.

GENERAL DEPARTMENT—MISCELLANEOUS.

Calcutta, the 28th November 1887.

RESOLUTION.

READ—

The General Administration Report of the Burdwan Division for the year 1886-87.

MR. E. E. LOWIS was in charge of the division until his transfer to Rajshahye on the 25th September, when Mr. Coxhead officiated as Commissioner for a month, and Mr. Beames held the post for the remainder of the year. The report is submitted by Mr. R. H. Wilson, who held charge after the close of the year.

2. The changes in the office of Commissioner interfered with the usual tour of inspection. During the rains, however, Mr. Lowis inspected the Beerbhoom district office, and in the cold weather Mr. Beames visited all districts of the division except Bankoora, and made useful inspections and enquiries. The tours of the district officers, except in Burdwan and Howrah, extended over the prescribed number of days, and all the eleven Sub-divisional Officers were in camp for 120 days or more. The Joint-Magistrate of Midnapore, and the Assistant Magistrate of Burdwan, were in camp for 25 days and 37 days respectively. Exception is properly taken to Mr. Warde-Jones's tour in Rampore Hât, which was confined mainly to a corner of one thana, while the rest of the sub-division was not adequately inspected.

Mr. Oldham, Collector of Burdwan, in reviewing the tours of the Deputy Collectors of Cutwa and Culna, observes that the rule requiring Sub-divisional Officers to spend 120 days in camp is harassing to the officers themselves, inconvenient to the legal practitioners who attend their Courts, and furnishes a ready excuse for delays in the decision of cases. He considers that the rule possesses no compensating advantages when applied to the native gentlemen who now constitute the great majority of Sub-divisional Officers. Mr. Wilson states that these remarks seem to him to deserve serious consideration, and he gives his own opinion on the subject in the following words:—

"While fully recognising the importance of maintaining and increasing the existing facilities for personal intercourse between Sub-divisional Officers and the people under their charge, I cannot overlook the fact that the most striking defect in district administration is at present the extreme delay in disposing of criminal work, which is too common on the part of Bengali Magistrates. Anything therefore which tends to diminish the necessity for adjournment in hearing criminal cases is so far an advantage."

The subject, which is of much importance, is now under consideration.

3. Except in a portion of Midnapore bordering the coast, the rainfall was sufficient for agricultural purposes and was favourably distributed. The general outturn of the crops is said by the Commissioner to have been better than for some years past, and the aman rice, which is the principal crop of the division, is described as having been such as has seldom been known within recent years. This description is borne out by the statistical tables (appended to the report) for Burdwan, Bankoora, Beerbhoom, and Midnapore, except Contai sub-division, but the tables for Hooghly and Howrah show an aman crop of 12 to 14 annas only, although in the body of the report it is stated that the outturn of the principal crops in Howrah was good. The explanation of the apparent discrepancy may be that in the two last-named districts the orders of 1885 with regard to appraisement of outturn of crops in annas have been overlooked.

4. The general health of the people throughout the division was comparatively good, and fever and cholera, though present both in the rural areas and in the towns, nowhere assumed the form of an epidemic. In Burdwan there was a remarkable decrease in the mortuary returns, and the testimony borne by them was supported by what the people themselves said as to the healthiness of the year; in Beerbhoom also the year is reported to have been unusually healthy.

Most encouraging progress has been made in this division in vaccination. Cases of small-pox are rare, and there has been no outbreak of an epidemic of late. The Commissioner writes that the people fully appreciate the benefit of protection, their former prejudice has almost entirely died out, and vaccination is everywhere readily sought for by persons of all classes.

5. The cultivating classes were benefited by the good harvests, and were able to pay off debts and lay by something for the future, while the salaried and non-agricultural population reaped the advantage of the low price of food-grains. An appreciable advance in the standard of comfort is noticed in the Hooghly district, and in the more prosperous parts of the Burdwan district. An exception, however, is made in the case of the weaving classes of Burdwan, Bankoora, and Beerbhoom, whose occupation is said to be disappearing under the stress of European competition. The wages of labour remained almost stationary. There was a falling off in registered emigration from every district, which was due to an increase of free emigration to the tea districts, as well as to the general prosperity of the year.

6. The manufacture of silk is a declining industry in this division, but an impulse has been given to the trade in cocoons by the demand of European firms both for mulberry and tusser cocoons, and a consequent rise in prices. As in Chota Nagpore, tusser-weavers are relinquishing their own trade on account of the high price of cocoons, but a considerable quantity of tusser silk is still manufactured in Bankoora and Beerbhoom. The cultivation of indigo is on the decline in this division, and the shell-lac industry has suffered by the competition of European dyes. The cotton mills in Howrah did good business, and the jute mills in this district and in Hooghly worked nine days instead of eight days in the fortnight. The increased outturn of coal and lime in the Burdwan district is noticed below.

7. In the Burdwan and Beerbhoom districts the good harvests were followed by a revival of trade; the exports of rice from the two districts during the year under review were 60 lakhs of maunds, or more than double those of the preceding year, and there was an increase in the imports of salt, pulses and oilseeds, due to the increased purchasing power of the people. On the other hand, the import trade of this division in European piece-goods declined, or remained stationary; this trade should be specially noticed in next year's report. A large increase in the exports of coal from Raneegunge, which rose to 783,517 tons against 635,921 tons in the preceding year, is attributed to the revival in the jute trade in Calcutta, to an increase in the lime and brick industries, and to the use of this coal by some of the steam-ship companies. There was a great development in the lime industry, due to the resumption of works in the Kidderpore Docks; 611,051 maunds of lime were exported from Raneegunge during the year under review, against 304,034 maunds in the preceding year.

8. With regard to the state of public feeling, the Commissioner makes the following remarks:—

"No general public opinion, properly so called, exists in this division. Such as is found in the advanced districts of Hooghly, Howrah and Burdwan is merely a reproduction of what is said in Calcutta. A vague feeling of mistrust sometimes haunts the minds of the people in connection with some Government measure, legislative or administrative, but it is seldom sufficiently definite to be capable of analysis or clear statement. The strong feeling which the Tenancy Act once evoked seems to be gradually disappearing, and no general interest is now manifested in its working, except by a few active agents. The Judge of Beerbhoom observes that its provisions are not as yet generally understood either by parties or by the Civil Courts. I agree with him in thinking that the real working of the Act will not become apparent until it has been for some time longer in force.

The Queen's Jubilee gave occasion to a gratifying display of loyal feeling throughout the division. Not only in the more important municipal towns, but even in remote villages, the auspicious event was very generally celebrated in one way or another; and this not merely by displays of fireworks and the like, but in a more substantial way by the establishment of memorial schools, dispensaries, and scholarships."

9. The Division of Burdwan is one in which the backward position of Muhammadans, and the limited extent to which they find employment in the public service has received attention. The following table indicates the number of Muhammadans now serving under Government:—

* Six Muhammadans have been taken in as apprentices, of whom four were acting on the date of the Magistrate's report.

The Commissioner observes:—

With reference to the figures of the Hooghly district, Mr. Toynbee observes that the claims of Muhammadans are not overlooked, but Muhammadan candidates for vacancies are nearly always beaten in examinations held to test qualifications. This is no doubt a difficulty in the way of the endeavour to secure for Muhammadans a larger share of the higher appointments, though it may be doubted whether competition in examinations conducted by untrained examiners is in any case the best way of selecting useful public servants. Mr. Oldham admits the difficulty, but would face it. "I unhesitatingly hold," he says, "that this sacrifice is not so great that it should not be incurred. Precisely the same argument was used with regard to the employment of Beharis in Behar, and from my recollection of Behar it had greater force there. Nevertheless, the existing rule has been introduced with excellent results, and I should not oppose the introduction of a rule framed on equally rigid principles for the employment of Muhammadans in Bengal."

Mr. Oldham very correctly interprets the instructions of Government, as conveyed in the Resolution of the 8th October 1886. In districts in which Muhammadans obtain a fair share of public appointments by competitive examination and similar methods no action is needed. It is because in some districts they require special, though temporary, encouragement and support that the necessity has arisen for exceptional treatment. ● The figures quoted above do not, however, indicate that the Muhammadans of the Burdwan Division are in any way behind hand, indeed it would seem that they hold more than a proportionate number of all except the gazetted offices.

10. The Commissioner writes that the police as a body did fairly well during the year, but the crime statistics do not support this conclusion. Both cognizable and non-cognizable crime increased, the results of trials before the Sessions Courts were not good, the small percentage of convictions in dacoity cases being particularly noticeable, and the returns in connection with the prosecution of complainants in false cases are unsatisfactory. In cognizable cases tried by Magistrates there was an increase in the percentage of convictions. Improvement is reported in the conduct of chowkidars enrolled under Act VI of 1870, and much attention is now paid by local officers to the punctual payment of wages by the punchayats.

11. There was a small increase in civil litigation in the aggregate, but a considerable decrease under the head of rent-suits. The decrease in rent-suits corresponds with the returns of other divisions, and the prevailing opinion is that it is due to uncertainty as to the effect of the provisions of the Tenancy Act.

12. The Collectors of Midnapore and Hooghly report that it has grown into a practice to accept without enquiry arrears of revenue tendered between the day fixed by law as the latest on which payment may be made, and that fixed by advertisement for the sale of estates in consequence of default. The Commissioner, Mr. Wilson, considers this to be a subject to which the attention of Government might with advantage be directed. He observes:—

It is idle to fix a latest day for payment if all defaulters are allowed to make good their default, without loss to their pockets, up to the subsequent dates fixed for the sale of defaulting estates. But, on the other hand, it is quite impossible to formulate any rule or principle which should guide a Collector in deciding whether or not to accept payment of revenue after the due date. All must depend on the Collector's individual judgment, which can hardly fail to incline towards extreme leniency, since Government has declared that "the cancellation of a sale on the ground of hardship is one of the most severe censures which can be passed on a Collector." Even if it could be determined what excuses, if well established, should be regarded as valid, it is quite impossible for a Collector to decide summarily in each particular case whether the excuses alleged are in fact true. Mere frequency of default is no reason for not showing indulgence, as the scarcely remunerative estates and estates held by numerous undivided proprietors, in which defaults are most frequent, are just the estates in which the bona fide obstacles in the way of punctuality are greatest. The true remedy for the present state of things is, I think, a provision of law or executive orders authorizing the levy of a moderate penalty upon exempting a defaulting estate from sale.

The matter is one which has for some time formed the subject of correspondence between the Bengal Government and the Board of Revenue, and is still under consideration. The executive orders issued have checked the evil of hasty and inconsiderate sales for trifling defaults, evidently the result of mistake; but it is a question whether greater punctuality might not be secured by some self-acting sanction, such as that suggested by Mr. Wilson, and also whether zemindars might not in some cases receive notice before their estates are advertised for sale on account of arrears.

13. Under the head of communications must be mentioned the opening of the Jubilee Bridge over the Hooghly on the 21st February last, which is the most important engineering work completed in recent times in these Provinces. The Commissioner remarks that the bulk of the funds of the District Boards are spent on repairs, as distinguished from the construction of new works, and the figures embodied in the report show that this is the case in Burdwan and Hooghly, which in this respect resemble the metropolitan districts of the Presidency Division. It is generally matter of complaint that the wants of these districts have outgrown the income available from the Road Cess, even where the tax is levied at the maximum rate. The Magistrate of Hooghly considers that "the future remedy for this state of affairs lies in the construction of steam tramways, and of toll-bars on metalled roads."

14. There was an increase of both schools and pupils in every district except Beerbhoom, where there was a falling off in the number of lower primary schools. It is observed that the decrease in that district was to some extent due to mal-administration, the nature of which is not specified, and a further report upon this subject will be called for through the Director of Public Instruction. The grant now made for primary schools is very small, in proportion to the great requirements of the country, and, owing to financial pressure, it has hitherto been found impossible to give effect to the recommendations of the Education Commission, entirely accepted by this Government, that the amount should be largely increased. There is the more necessity that the moderate resources available should be husbanded with the greatest care. The Lieutenant-Governor expects that Commissioners and District Officers will give close attention to the expenditure of funds sanctioned for primary schools. The progress of female education in this division has been slow, notwithstanding the efforts of the zenana mission, and in four of the six districts of the division the number of girls' schools was less than in the preceding year.

15. With regard to the working of the Boards recently constituted under the Local Self-Government Act, the Commissioner writes that it is premature to report. The Municipal Committees of Burdwan, Culna, Bally and Howrah are said to have done good work, but in some municipalities there has been neglect of business and want of harmony among the Commissioners.

16. With few exceptions, the conduct of zemindars towards their tenantry has been satisfactory. The names of several zemindars, who were conspicuous during the year for their liberality and public spirit, and by their fair dealings with their tenantry, are enumerated in the Commissioner's report.

17. The remarks regarding the qualifications of officers will be considered in the Appointment Department.

- Letter No. 1575I., dated Calcutta, the 4th October 1887, from the Officiating Chief Engineer, Public Works Department, Irrigation Branch, Bengal.
- Letter, dated London, the 20th October 1887, from Mr. E. Solano, to the Chief Secretary to the Government of Bengal.
- Letter No 3511 of the 8th November 1887, from the Superintending Engineer, Sone Circle, with enclosures, being notes by himself and other officers of the Sone Canals on the memorial of the residents of Shahabad, letter of Messrs. Burrows, Thomson and Mylne, and Mr. L. H. Mylne's memorandum.

WHILE on tour in the Behar Division, the Lieutenant-Governor received a memorial, numerously signed by leading residents of the Shahabad district, complaining of the system under which the Sone Canals are worked in that district. This was followed up by separate letters of complaint from Messrs. Burrows, Thomson and Mylne and from Mr. Solano, influential landholders of the district. The complaints were general, and not only dealt with the rates, but pointed out numerous difficulties and imperfections in the system of assessment, as well as in that of collection, and included allegations of insufficient water-supply and of injury to the general health of the district. On enquiry the Lieutenant-Governor found that the allegations were such as could not be satisfactorily dealt with by departmental agency.

2. The civil and departmental officers admitted that in many respects the system worked imperfectly, and added complaints from their own point of view of difficulties in securing the attendance of parties for assessment, in ascertaining the correct names of owners, in properly controlling distribution, and in promptly realising arrears.

3. The Lieutenant-Governor came to the conclusion that it was necessary to examine into the working of the entire system, with a view to provide remedies where possible for admitted defects, and to improve the rules, and, if necessary, the law under which the system is administered.

4. To carry out this enquiry, it is resolved to appoint a Committee consisting of—

Mr. H. J. S. Cotton, B.C.S.	President.
" C. W. Odling, M.E., M.I.C.E.	} Members.
Rai Jaiprakash Lal Bahadur

5. Mr. Cotton is placed on special duty from the date on which he was relieved by Sir Henry Harrison; and, after studying the papers bearing on the subject in the Bengal Office, will proceed to Arrah and there be joined by the Members.

6. The enquiry will extend to the working of the system in the Patna and Gya districts as well as in Shahabad, and should, it is considered, be completed at the outside in three months. Mr. Odling will continue to conduct his duties as Superintending Engineer, Sone Circle.

7. A separate letter of instructions will issue to the President and Members of the Committee this day.

ORDER.—Ordered that copies of this Resolution be forwarded to the officers and gentleman nominated to serve on the Committee; to the Commissioner of the Patna Division, and to the Superintending Engineer of the Sone Canals, for information and guidance; to the Revenue, Appointment, and Financial Departments of this Government; the Board of Revenue, Lower Provinces; and the Examiner, Public Works Accounts, Bengal, for information.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

C. W. I. HARRISON, Lieut.-Col., R.E.,

Offg. Joint-Secretary to the Government of Bengal,

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

Explanation.—Summary.—The normal means of air pressure and temperature are the arithmetical average or means of the readings during the same period for the last ten years. The humidity of the atmosphere is expressed as percentage, saturated air being represented by 100. A clear sky is denoted by 0 and an overcast sky by 10. The normal mean or average of the rainfall in that district determined from the returns sent in by the sub-divisional stations for the same period in question during the past 10 years is the district sending in returns divided by the number of stations. A rain gauge is used at least hundredth of an inch fall.

for the week ending Friday, the 25th November 1887.

 mean. The means at the district are the numerical averages of the rainfall returns received in the district, i.e., from the total rainfall at the sub-divisions.

CALCUTTA, the 29th November 1887

SUMMARY OF THE RAINFALL AND METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL FOR THE WEEK ENDING FRIDAY, THE 25TH OF NOVEMBER 1887.

At the close of the previous week the normal cold-weather conditions which had previously obtained in Bengal had become partially reversed by the existence of slightly disturbed weather in the south of the Bay. At the commencement of the present week, therefore, the sky was moderately clouded, temperature and humidity were rather high and distinctly above the normal, and in fact both temperature and humidity were increasing, and pressure was also high. A light north-easterly wind prevailed over the greater part of the Province, though at some stations winds were even south-easterly. The effect of the disturbed conditions in the south of the Bay, however, rapidly passed away, and from Saturday the 19th pressure, temperature and humidity commenced to decrease, the sky also cleared rather rapidly, and winds became more north-westerly. These conditions continued up till the 23rd, when again the sky began to cloud over in South Bengal, while humidity increased, though temperature was almost unaffected; these changes being apparently again brought about by slightly disturbed conditions to the south of the centre of the Bay, as indicated by high wind velocities at Diamond Island on the 21st and 22nd. These slightly disturbed conditions only existed in Bengal up to the 25th, when the sky again cleared, temperature became decidedly lower, and humidity commenced to decrease. The north-east monsoon conditions have therefore been rather feeble in Bengal during the week, but in no case has any rainfall been reported from any district, though cloud proportion, pressure, temperature and humidity have all been comparatively high for the season.

Pressure—Was high at the commencement of the week, and then fell slowly till about the 21st, when it again rose, attaining its maximum point on the 23rd, when it subsequently commenced to fall again. These oscillations are of the usual character noticeable even during fine settled weather. For the whole week, taking into consideration only those stations which have recorded observations for a long series of years, and which, therefore, yield reliable averages, the mean pressure of the Province has been 0.061 inch in excess of the normal. The excess pressure has been largest in the north of the Province, where at Purneah and Durbhunga it has equalled 0.09 inch, and on the other hand it has been small at Burdwan and Chittagong, where it has only equalled 0.04 inch.

Temperature—As previously stated, has been comparatively high throughout the week, and thus the mean temperature of the whole Province has been no less than 2.7° in excess of the normal. In the districts of Orissa and North Bengal the excess has been even larger than 3°. The temperature has been fairly steadily above the normal throughout the week, and the excess has been very noticeable both in the day and in the night temperatures, though perhaps the excess in the night or minimum temperatures has been rather more pronounced than in the maximum or day temperatures. This is shown in the following table, where the mean maximum and minimum temperatures for the week at nine typical stations in different districts of the Province are given compared with the normal means for the same period. At the nine stations the mean night temperatures have been 2.6° in excess of the normal, and the day temperatures 1.6° in excess:—

For Offg. Meteorological Reporter to the Govt. of India.

MEMORANDUM.

The leading facts in connection with the mortuary statistics of the districts in Bengal, for the month of September 1887, are the following:—

1. That the deaths of 112,626 persons were registered out of a population of 66,163,884 in these districts, or at the rate of 20.40 per 1,000 per annum, against 24.96 per 1,000 in the preceding month, and 21.60 per 1,000 in the corresponding month of 1886, indicating, as compared with both the periods (especially with the former), a considerable falling off in the number of deaths recorded.

2. That the highest death-rates were reported to have occurred in the following districts:—

Districts.			Districts.
		Ratio per mille.			Ratio per mille.

4. That the following districts returned conspicuously high mortality from cholera and fever, and that no districts exhibited any noticeable high death-rate from the other diseases mentioned in the above table, excepting Puri, where 10.20 per 1,000 of population died from the unspecified diseases coming under the head of "Other Causes:—"

The following are the conditions of sale:—

1.—The opium will be sold for exportation by sea only, and no certificate will be granted except to cover such export.

2.—The opium will be ordinarily offered for sale at an upset price of Rs. 800 per chest, and sold to the highest bidder above that price, except under the circumstances for which provision is made by clause 13 of these conditions of sale. The bids must advance by Rs. 5 at a time.

3.—The sale shall commence at the hour of 11 A.M. of the day fixed by previous notification, and shall not be continued after the hour of 5 P.M.; but if at that hour any of the lots advertised for sale shall remain unsold, the sale may, at the discretion of the Board of Revenue, be resumed on the next day following (not being Sunday or a public holiday), at the hour of 11 A.M., and so on until the whole of the remaining lots are disposed of; or, if the whole quantity advertised shall not be sold on the day appointed, the Board of Revenue may dispose of the lots which remain on hand at a future sale.

4.—Each lot shall contain five chests.

5.—A Promissory Note for a sum, calculated according to the scale noted in the margin, shall be taken as a deposit on each lot from the purchaser in the sale-room and before the lot is registered in the sale-book, and all such Promissory Notes shall be redeemed on the part of the purchasers at this Office by Bank of Bengal receipts or by substitution of other public securities of the Government of India, on or before 3-30 P.M. in the afternoon of the fifth day after the sale, provided it does not fall on a Saturday; if it falls on a Saturday, the said notes must be redeemed by 1-30 P.M., or, on the other hand, failing such redemption by the time aforesaid, then the lot or lots for which no Bank of Bengal Receipts or deposit of other public securities as aforesaid shall have been delivered in, shall be re-sold at such time or times and under such conditions of re-sale as the Board of Revenue shall see fit; and all losses and expenses whatsoever attending such re-sale shall be borne and paid by the defaulters, whilst any profit accruing from such re-sale shall be forfeited to Government.

6.—The said Promissory Notes shall be absolutely payable in any event, and the amount thereof shall be absolutely forfeited upon such default as before mentioned, and the amount thereof shall not go or be credited in reduction of any loss on re-sale or expenses thereby incurred, but shall be recoverable whether such re-sale shall be had or not, or whether there shall be a loss on such re-sale or not.

7.—The Promissory Notes taken on the day of sale under the fifth condition, if remaining unredeemed at 3-30 P.M. of the fifth day following the day of sale, or 1-30 P.M. if the last day falls on a Saturday, will be placed in the hands of the Solicitor to the Government for realization in such manner as to him shall seem fit.

8.—No tender of money, Bank of Bengal Receipts, or public securities, on account of opium upon which the prescribed deposit may not have been made before the prescribed time in clause 5 on the fifth day following the day of sale will be afterwards accepted. Provided always that money so subsequently tendered may be taken in payment of the said Promissory Note, but such acceptance of money shall in no way entitle the payer thereof to any right to delivery of the lot or lots in respect whereof the said note was given, or to any of the rights of a purchaser thereof, or release the payer from liability for any unpaid balance of such notes or from the additional liability for the loss and expenses of such re-sale as provided for in clauses No. 5 and No. 6.

9.—The opium advertised for sale shall be paid for not later than by 3-30 P.M. of the fifteenth day from the day of sale, provided it does not fall on a Saturday; if it falls on a Saturday, the opium must be paid for by 1-30 P.M.; and in case any lots of such opium shall not be so paid for and adjusted, then the cash deposit made under the fifth condition, or any public securities that may have been deposited on account of such lots or chests, shall be forfeited, and the opium shall be disposed of on account of Government at such time and in such manner as the Board of Revenue shall think fit; and the first purchaser shall further be required to make good all expenses and any loss or difference of price between that obtained at the re-sale and the amount at which the opium was first purchased, forfeiting all advantages that may arise from such re-sale, and the liability for the loss or difference of price and expenses shall be in addition to, and wholly independent of, the amount of the deposit so forfeited.

10.—Purchasers taking out certificates or orders for the delivery of opium, after making full payment as above prescribed, shall have the option of naming the number of lots of their purchase, which they may desire to be included in each certificate or order; and it is to be clearly understood that the certificates or orders so taken out shall be considered final, and not afterwards changeable for other certificates or orders authorizing the delivery of single lots, or of a different number of lots or chests, whether more or less, than the number of lots or chests originally required to be included in each certificate or order.

11.—No deposit of public securities under the fifth of the present conditions will be received in this office except from the party recorded as the purchaser in the sale-book, or his authorized agent. The receipt for deposit of public securities will be granted only in the name of such purchaser, and the securities so deposited will be returned when payment in full has been made by the said purchaser or his order.

12.—The officer superintending the sale on the part of the Government is empowered to reject, at his discretion, the bid of any individual, unless such individual shall on demand tender at the time a deposit either in Government of India Notes, Bank of Bengal Receipts, or Government Securities, a sum equal to the amount for which a Promissory Note would otherwise be taken under the fifth of these conditions.

13.—With a view to prevent fictitious biddings designed to obstruct the sale, it is hereby notified that the officer of Government superintending the sale shall be competent, at any time during the sale, to withdraw any unsold lot, and immediately to put it up again for sale at a maximum upset price, diminishing the same gradually until a bid is obtained; and the first bond fide bidder for a lot after it has been offered for sale in the mode here described shall be held and declared to be the purchaser of the said lot, and the officer of Government superintending the sale shall also be competent to dispose, in the same manner, of as many of the subsequent lots as he may think proper, provided always that no lot shall be sold below the minimum price of Rs. 800 specified in the second of these conditions.

14.—The purchaser of any lot shall have the option of naming and purchasing in immediate succession, at the same price and under the same conditions, any number of lots of the same Agency opium not exceeding altogether twenty-five lots, provided always that there remain a sufficient number of lots of the opium to complete the said twenty-five.

15.—In the event of any dispute or difference touching or concerning any matter or question arising out of the sale of the opium included in this notification, or adjustment of the account thereof, the same shall and may be tried and decided in the High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal.

16.—The following papers will be exhibited for inspection on the day of sale, or may be seen previously to that date by personal application at the Office of the Board of Revenue:—No. 1, certificate of the opium advertised for sale; No. 2, report of the examination of such opium.

17.—The public are hereby informed that in providing the investment of the opium manufactured at the Patna Factory and the opium manufactured at the Chhazerpore Factory for the year 1886-87, the same precautions have been taken as those which have been observed during past years to have the drug procured and sent down in a pure state, to have only the prescribed quantity of leaves used in forming the cakes, and to have the due proportion of opium put into each cake. An account of the weight of the drug when packed at the Patna and Ghazepore Factories, and a statement of the average weight of the chests, indiscriminately taken, for the purpose of comparison, from the despatches on arrival at Calcutta, may be seen on personal application at the Office of the Board of Revenue.

18.—Any further information respecting weight or quality of the opium advertised for sale that may be desired by parties connected with the trade will, as heretofore, be furnished to them on personal application at the Office of the Board of Revenue. But, in accordance with established usage, under no circumstances will the Board of Revenue entertain or recognize any claim to compensation for loss from any alleged deficiency of weight, abstraction of opium, or adulteration of the drug, which may be preferred on reference to chests after the sale and delivery of the opium for shipment.

By order of the Board of Revenue, L. P.,

K. G. GUPTA,

Offg. Secretary.

STATEMENT OF THE COURSE OF LEGISLATION.

THE HON. THE PRESIDENT said—Gentlemen, it has been usual, I believe, for the Lieutenant-Governor at the beginning of each Session to lay before the Council a statement of the course of legislation likely to occupy their attention during the coming Session. On this occasion the list is not a long one, but I cannot on that account promise you that your labours will be light or of an unimportant character. The main item in the programme, the Bill concerning the Municipality of Calcutta and the Suburbs, is one which must under any circumstances take up a large measure of your time and occupy a great deal of your anxious care and attention. The Select Committee, as you are aware, sent in their report on this Bill at the end of the last Session, and I was in hopes that we should be able to set to work upon the Bill in Council at the beginning of this Session. But the Bill, as was natural from its character, excited a great deal of interest, and from various quarters we have received reports and suggestions, and we have still to expect more of them. In the first place the Government of India have sent us a letter containing a score or so of suggestions, most of them on small matters, but one or two on important matters of principle; and to these are added a series of minor proposals connected with the drafting of the Bill. We have received a report from the Port Commissioners. Again I understand that the Trades' Association have also sent in a report which I have not yet seen, but which I am told objects strongly on some points to the principle of the Bill as at present adopted. Similarly, the European Defence Association have sent in a report in which they also take exception on some points to the constitution of the Corporation as proposed in the Bill. I am also informed that we are to expect within a very brief time reports from various important bodies, especially from the British Indian Association, from the Calcutta Municipality itself, from the Chamber of Commerce, from the Health Society, and possibly from other people. And finally Sir Henry Harrison informs me that in what may be called the adjective part of the Bill, that part which deals not with the constitution of the Corporation, but with the machinery and procedure for working the Act after the Corporation is constituted, in that part of the Bill he himself has a great number of small suggestions to make for amending the working of the law. Well, gentlemen, no one who has read the report of the Select Committee of last year can doubt that they devoted with all possible diligence their utmost care and attention to making the Bill a success. At the same time I think the members of that Committee themselves will agree with me in thinking that all these detailed suggestions that I have mentioned will best be considered in Committee, discussing them across the table in the first instance, rather than under the formal rules of debate which govern us in this Council. I have spoken to my hon. friend Sir Henry Harrison who quite agrees with my suggestion, and therefore it is that you will find upon to-day's motion paper his proposal to ask that the Bill be referred to the Select Committee of last year. It is not proposed to add a rider giving instructions as to the date within which the Committee is to report, but I may express my own hope that the Committee will be able to complete their work within six weeks, or at the very utmost two months, so as to give this Council time to discuss fully and to pass this Bill before the Session is over. The Session of course may go on for a long time, but still it is a great object not to keep a question of this kind open longer than is necessary, and I shall do my utmost with your assistance to get it passed through the Council before we separate altogether. So much for the Municipal Bill.

I wish I could tell you that my projects for legislation ended here, but there is one small point which it is my duty to bring before you to-day. I have received from the Government of India a letter requesting me to lay before the Council a proposal for the amendment of the Bengal Municipal Law in one particular point. That Act, as you are aware, lays it down that the limits of municipalities may not be varied, except upon the initiative of the municipality itself. Well, gentlemen, the Government of India are anxious that I should ask you to amend the law on this point so as to bring it into line with the municipal laws in Northern India and elsewhere, so far as they empower the Local Government to withdraw from a municipality lands or premises in the occupation of Government for State purposes. The question, if I understand rightly, is not one primarily or at all events wholly of taxation; for we have already in Act XI of 1881 power sufficient to enable the Government to deal with taxation whenever they think that taxation is improperly imposed upon them. But the recommendation appears to be one based upon general considerations.

The question, I may mention, came before the Government of India in two instances—one in which a reserved forest—a sort of property which you would not ordinarily expect to find included within a municipality, is included within the municipality of Darjeeling; and the other was in reference to the Ichapore gun foundry and the magazine connected with it. The question there was primarily one of the right of the municipality to enter the premises and inspect the drainage. The Government of India very properly instructed their officers in charge of the factory that he was to act according to law, and to give the municipality the facilities which the law required to enter the premises. But when they come to look into the matter further, it seems to have occurred to them, both in this instance and in the case of Darjeeling, that the Government ought to have the power to withdraw its own premises under special circumstances from the control of a municipality in such matters. In both of these cases the Government of Bengal expressed their unwillingness to disturb the principle which had recently been accepted by the Legislature, though in both cases they admitted that under the circumstances it would have been well that the premises in question had never been included within the municipality. The Government of India, however, considered that the principle itself was a mistaken one, and they have accordingly desired me to bring before you a proposal to amend the law. We are not yet prepared with this Bill, and therefore the question is not ripe for discussion, but when my hon. friend Mr. Macaulay asks you for leave to introduce a Bill, the whole matter will be fully gone into. At present I merely mention it because it is right I should inform you that your attention is likely to be drawn to the subject during the present Session.

CALCUTTA AND SUBURBAN MUNICIPALITIES AMALGAMATION BILL.

THE HON. SIR HENRY HARRISON moved that the "Bill to amend and consolidate the law relating to the municipal affairs of the town and suburbs of Calcutta" be again referred to a Select Committee. In doing so he said that perhaps he might take the opportunity of adding a few remarks to what the H.M. the President had already said as regards the position of this Bill. The Bill had now been before the Council for two Sessions, but there was considerable difference as regards what His Honour had described as the substantive and the adjective portions of it. The substantive portion of the Bill had been placed before the Council two years ago, and had now been for two seasons before the public; but the adjective portion of it, which it was obvious required the utmost care and attention in matters of detail, was not put into shape until the Select Committee submitted its report last year, and therefore that portion of the Bill had really been before the public in a shape in which they could consider and discuss it for this past season only; and it was perfectly correct to say, much as the Committee took pains to settle it last year, that it still remained in a form which he thought was susceptible of improvement both by re-arrangement and by amendment in many matters of detail. As regards that portion of the Bill, therefore, it seemed very desirable that it should again have the attention of the Select Committee, who of course would consider it with reference to all the remarks and recommendations which several public bodies had been so good as to send in or were going to send in to the Council. At the same time, whilst that portion of the Bill specially required care and attention, it was naturally not the portion which attracted the greatest amount of attention and criticism. It was the substantive portion of the Bill which prescribed the proposed constitution of the new municipality in which public bodies took most interest, although some of them undoubtedly, especially the Health Society, paid very considerable attention to matters of detail. As regards that portion of the Bill, it was a material question for the consideration of the Committee whether they would think it right or not to reconsider in any way the constitution of the Corporation which they adopted last season with reference to the criticisms and recommendations which had been received. The matter was one of extreme difficulty, because it was evident, from the reports which had come in, that the Committee would receive suggestions materially to modify the proposed constitution of the Corporation. What chiefly struck him in reading over these suggestions, and the Council would excuse him if he troubled them with a few words on this point, was not that the critics did not clearly see the defects, but that they did not clearly see the difficulty of applying the remedies, or the precise nature of the remedies to be applied. As he had on many occasions stated, the greatest defect in the present constitution of the municipality was the impossibility of securing the co-operation of the commercial element in Calcutta, especially of experienced men of business at the head of large mercantile firms. It was no secret that every Lieutenant-Governor had tried to obtain the co-operation of some of the leading members of the mercantile community, and it was equally no secret that they had almost invariably replied that they had not the time to spare. The difficulty was not solely that they were afraid of being outnumbered. The real difficulty was that, whereas native gentlemen who serve on the Corporation could devote a large amount of their leisure to familiarising themselves with the details of municipal work, obviously the leading men amongst the mercantile community had not the same leisure at their disposal, and it was difficult to get men without leisure to participate in work with men who had leisure. He believed the system of work which had gradually developed itself in the municipality was eminently advantageous and reasonable. Of course the greatest part of the work must be done by the executive officers, but that portion which the members of the Corporation were able to look into was chiefly done by Committees. Committees had no final power of their own, and were entirely subordinate to the Commissioners in meeting. The result was that the whole work of the Corporation was done by these Committees; but any single member of the Corporation, and the Chairman especially, who often availed himself of the power, could virtually appeal from the decision of a Committee, if he chose, to the great body of the Commissioners. Therefore the Corporation, as a whole, had practically fallen into the position of a court of appeal on every great question of interest. In 19 out of 20 cases the decisions of Committees on minor questions were passed without discussion on the assumption that the work was done well; it was only the twentieth case that was fought out over again. It might appear, therefore, at first sight, as if a man without leisure might participate in this work of an appellate tribunal, where of course he would have the opportunity of practically directing the whole policy of the municipality in that way. Here again, however, a fresh difficulty arose. When large questions of principle came up for final discussion in general meeting, it could not but be expected that the men of leisure who naturally took an interest in the work which they had helped to complete would also naturally be prepared to discuss at length the questions which were under consideration; but the men of business would not like to sit for two or three hours to discuss them. It was unreasonable to suppose that this could be otherwise, and when European gentlemen did take an interest in such matters they themselves fell into the habit of making as long speeches as Native gentlemen. Some of the longest speeches he had ever listened to were made by European gentlemen in debates in which they were taking a great interest. It seemed, therefore, impossible to expect that men to whom time was of the utmost value could sit out such discussions. It was not, he thought, so much a question of numbers. He did not think that was the real difficulty. The difficulty was that the business of the Corporation must be managed in a way which involved the possession of a certain amount of leisure; and as regards the element most needed, broad views of important questions affecting the commercial welfare of the town, the men who would be of the greatest service to the Corporation could not afford the time required. That was the problem which, so far as he could see, it was necessary to solve. He did suggest at one time paying the members of the Town Council, because then it might be hoped that though such men would not care for the fee itself, they would see that there was an obligation upon them to go through with a sitting; men who were paid for their attendance would feel that they were bound not to be impatient. But that proposal, although approved in some quarters, did not meet with strong approval, and the suggestion was not adopted. As far as he could see, whatever the number might be, the difficulty would be this, that the only Europeans who could be got to assist in the affairs of the municipality were a few men who were either retired Government pensioners, or others who, for some particular reason, happened to have the necessary amount of leisure. Consequently, he was bound to say that he had little doubt that in the new Corporation, as in the old, those gentlemen who could afford the time would be those who would most generally settle its affairs.

For the rest, the great aim of the Select Committee should be to see if they could make the Corporation consist of the most varied kind of Commissioners. One objection he had to the present system of election was that its tendency was to give just the same type of men for most of the wards. In each case the ward elected the same type of Commissioner, some one who would give attention to its affairs. Hence the large amount of attention which was now given to the small wants of the inhabitants. In that respect he must say that the amount of good work done by the Corporation had been enormous. They were always being plied with suggestions for small improvements, which affected perhaps the convenience of a few hundred persons residing in the ward, such as making a path here, rounding off an awkward corner there, constructing a bathing platform in a third place, and small matters of that kind. The local convenience of the inhabitants had been studied a great deal, and as the result, it was hardly too much to say that various parts of Calcutta had in that way been improved in the course of the last few years to such an extent that the value of land had been at least doubled. Whilst on the one hand the Commissioners had done what their constituents expected them to do, viz., look after their own small wants, there was, he feared, no doubt that the spirit of the Corporation had been too parochial. That had been the difficulty. If a person had studied the constitution of the municipality scientifically, a priori, he would have anticipated the very defect which experience had revealed, viz., that whereas all small matters of local interest would receive the greatest possible attention and the greatest possible encouragement, on the other hand the larger requirements of the town would not receive equal attention. That was a result which must be expected if the Council could not see their way to get men to represent anything but small local areas, who would mainly look after their own local interests, and when elected would consider that they best discharged their duties by looking to the special wants of their wards. He at one time suggested that the town should be divided into larger wards, with a larger number of members to each ward. This suggestion met with but little support. It was curious to see how the same view prevailed in other places. In Bombay, where they had larger wards, the executive were most anxious to retain them in the new Bill; but one of the recommendations of the Corporation was to divide the town into smaller wards, so that each Commissioner should represent the wants of a small body. That showed a natural feeling that they preferred to have more clearly defined wants of small bodies to represent, and be brought nearer their constituents—a very natural wish and very good up to a certain point. It showed the same feeling there also on the part of the officers of the Corporation, who wished to obtain Commissioners with wider and broader views. Probably or possibly something between the two might be done which would be an improvement—a certain number of members to represent local wants and a certain number to represent metropolitan wants. This was a matter on which it was impossible for him to do more than to express a general opinion, and he presumed the Select Committee would take care to consider whether any improvement could be made, or whether, looking at all the difficulties and objections to any other course, they would think it best to leave the constitution of the Corporation as it was at present framed.

THE HON. BABU KALI NATH MITTER said he did not know whether he would be out of order, but he thought a few words from him on the present occasion would not be out of place. The Hon. Mover of the Bill had pointed out the difficulty of getting gentlemen belonging to the mercantile community to serve on the Municipal Commission. That was a difficulty which, to the speaker's mind, was insurmountable, unless merchants themselves would come forward to offer their services. It was quite possible that by means of election, pure and simple, several members of that community might be elected if any interest was taken in returning members from it. He thought it was a mistake to ground a complaint on the fact that commercial interests were not represented; because we know that as a matter of fact persons representing those interests did not take such an amount of interest in the affairs of the Municipality as would induce them to offer themselves for election. If the election returns were examined, it would be seen that hardly any eminent persons belonging to the mercantile community ever came forward to be elected, and very few of them registered themselves as voters. The consequence was that other communities were able to return a larger number of representatives. He quite admitted everything that Sir Henry Harrison had said with reference to the local wants of the inhabitants being attended to by the Commissioners; but Sir Henry Harrison was not correct in saying that the same amount of interest was not taken in the consideration of larger questions which did not concern particular wards. Those were matters in respect of which the members of the Corporation who were nominated by the Government might be supposed to take interest, as they were nominated by the Government and did not represent the interests of any particular ward; and it would naturally be within their province to interest themselves in the consideration of those larger questions concerning improvements of a general character. He put it to Sir Henry Harrison to say whether the nominated members of the Corporation had taken such an amount of interest in the affairs of the Corporation as might be expected. If they had not done so, he thought it was a very strong argument against the system of nomination. If, on the other hand, the nominated Commissioners had taken a keen interest in the work of the Corporation, and had done good work, that would be in favour of preserving the system of nomination. But he believed it would be admitted that on the whole the same amount of interest had not been taken by the nominated members as by the elected Commissioners in the affairs of the Corporation. It was very difficult to say how persons could be compelled to serve on the municipality who were unwilling to do so. He did not admit that the elected Commissioners had not taken the same amount of interest in large questions as they did in small matters. On the contrary, he believed they had taken the greatest interest in some of the largest measures which had come before the Commissioners. Take the water-supply extension scheme for instance. The special Committee for the consideration of that question was composed mostly of elected Commissioners and though there were some nominated members upon it, still if the records of the Corporation were searched, it would be seen that it was the elected Commissioners who gave their time and attention to the matter, and that in fact the scheme was the scheme of the elected Commissioners. He could well understand his hon. friend not quite approving of the present system of election as it must not be forgotten that he, as Chairman of the Corporation, did not in some instances meet with the support which he expected. That would be the case under any constitution, and it could not be controlled in any way.

The motion was put and agreed to, and the Bill was again referred to the Select Committee consisting of the Hon. Mr. Reynolds, the Hon. Mr. Macaulay, the Hon. Mr. Allen, the Hon. Moulvie Abdul Jubbar, the Hon. Mr. Irving, the Hon. Babu Kali Nath Mitter, and the Mover, the Hon. Sir Henry Harrison.

The Council was adjourned to Saturday, the 17th December 1887.

The Report for the year 1885, and the Resolution recorded upon it.

The public health of Calcutta was much better in 1886 than in any one of the eleven preceding years. There was a remarkable decrease in the number of deaths from small-pox, and fevers; diarrhoea and dysentery proved less fatal. The general death-rate of the town from all causes was 26.42 per mille, the lowest on record during the past twelve years, and smaller by nearly three per mille than last year.

2. The following table shows the extent to which the public resorted to the hospitals as patients during the past two years:—

An increase is shown in the number of in-door patients at all except the Medical College and Campbell Hospitals. In only one of the three Calcutta hospitals which receive out-door patients, viz., the Medical College, was there an increase in attendance. The general death-rate of the Calcutta hospitals was 110.65 per mille against 120.23 in 1885. If the Howrah figures are included, the rate was 116.49 against 125.79, a figure lower than any year since 1879. A decrease in the death-rate is shown at all except the General and the Voluntary Lock Hospitals, where the rate rose from 31.02 and 43.47 to 38.69 and 47.52, respectively. If cholera deaths are excluded, the general death-rate among all races was 101 per mille against 113 in the previous year. If moribund and cholera cases are both excluded from the list of deaths among natives, the true native death-rate was 112.7 against 118.07 in 1885.

3. Of the total number (264,461) of persons treated during the year, 157,851 were adult males, 39,448 were females, and 67,162 were children. The proportion of male to female adults was therefore about 4 to 1. The numbers according to race were 10,239 Europeans, 28,427 Eurasians, 93,517 Mahomedans, 122,564 Hindus, and 9,714 of other races. These figures differ in a very small degree from those recorded in 1885, the number of Hindus, who visited the hospitals, having slightly decreased, while for all other races, the number of patients is rather larger than in the previous year.

4. The number of important surgical operations performed during the year was 1,561 against 1,505 in the previous year. The number of minor operations undertaken was 19,040 against 18,042 in 1885.

The following figures exhibit the working of the Dental dispensary at the Medical College during the past three years:—

	1884.	1885.	1886.
Extractions ...	1,352	1,396	1,673
Stoppings ...	105	112	130
Miscellaneous cases ...	254	240	359
Total ...	1,711	1,748	2,162

In the Eden Hospital nearly the same number of cases were treated by the Obstetric Physician in 1886 and in 1885, there being rather fewer European and rather more native patients, and one more death than in 1885. The results of the treatment of confinement cases are very satisfactory. The death-rate in these cases was only 3·82 per cent., and this although some of the patients appeared for the first time when they had reached a hopeless condition.

The results of major operations at the Medical College Hospital were not so successful as in the year 1885. There were 53 deaths out of a total of 487 cases. In the Ophthalmic wards 423 in-door and 6,605 out-door patients were treated against 524 and 6,436 respectively in the previous year. The percentage of successful cases in operations for cataract was greater than last year.

Enteric fever presented itself during the year only in the Medical College and Presidency General Hospitals. The number of cases in both the hospitals was the same as in the previous year. The number of cases of remittent fever treated in 1886 (706) is the lowest on record since 1873. The Inspector-General makes the following observations regarding the difficulty experienced in the correct classification of these diseases:—

“The same uncertainty obtains in the correct classification of the severer form of remittent fever, typhoid in type, and the true enteric fever of cold and semi-tropical climates; and nothing has been elicited during the year in elucidation of the difficulty experienced in this country in defining the diagnostic line between the two diseases. Seventeen cases of enteric fever were treated in the General Hospital in the year under report, and six died. One case only was admitted into the Medical College Hospital. The subject was a boy aged 9 years. He completely recovered. From the uncertainty in the nomenclature and smallness in the numbers presented in this table, no general or useful inferences are justifiable.”

An important improvement was effected during the year in the opening of a children's ward in the Medical College Hospital. Formerly children used to be treated in the female wards of the Medical College and Presidency General Hospitals. Now one of the female wards of the former institution has been divided, and the portion thus cut off has been furnished throughout with the assistance of charity for the accommodation of European and Eurasian children.

10. The system of nursing which has been established at the Medical College, Presidency General, and Eden Hospitals continues to afford the highest satisfaction. Everybody concerned has borne grateful testimony to the benefits which have accrued from the trained skill of the nurses, and the Lieutenant-Governor desires again to place on record his recognition and high appreciation of the good work which is being done by them.

11. The circumstances of the Police Hospitals are exceptional and admit of no comparison with those of other hospitals. The proportion of admission per 1,000 of the total strength was 802·10 against 767·61 in 1885. The daily average number of sick was 94·09 against 89·18 in 1885. As in 1885, ague, dysentery and venereal diseases prevailed during the year. The total number of deaths was 29 against 28 in 1885.

12. During the year 484 in-patients were treated in the voluntary Lock-hospitals (viz. 89 in the Sealdah Lock-hospital and 395 in the Alipore Lock-hospital) against 414 in 1885. The daily average number of patients treated was 103·4 against 90 in 1885. The deaths among in-patients numbered twenty-three against 18 in 1885. The number of out-door patients was 1,629 against 1,889 in 1885. Of these, 38 were treated in the Sealdah Lock-hospital and 1,591 in the Alipore Lock-hospital. The daily average number was 6·2 against 6·5 in the previous year. Ague, rheumatism, dysentery and splenitis formed the chief diseases. Cholera and small-pox were absent from the hospitals. The following statement shows the number of patients treated for venereal diseases in the other hospitals:—

Hospitals.	Number of in-door patients treated in 1886.	Number of out-door patients treated in 1886.	Total.
Medical College Hospital ...	210	2,578	2,788
Presidency General Hospital ...	436	436
Campbell Hospital ...	733	...	733
Mayo Hospital ...	41	7,140	7,181
Howrah Hospital ...	138	473	609

It is observed that out of the 363 patients admitted to the Alipore Lock-hospital only 74 were received on transfer from other hospitals, while in 1885 100 patients were received on transfer. The Inspector-General remarks that he considers that only certain forms of venereal disease should be admitted into a lock-hospital; he will be requested to bear in mind, as pointed out in the Resolution of last year, that it is desirable that cases of venereal disease should be treated as little as possible in General Hospitals.

13. The amount of invested capital belonging to the hospitals fell from Rs. 5,54,300 at the beginning of the year to Rs. 5,49,300 at its close. This is due to the sale of Government paper of the value of Rs. 5,000 belonging to the Howrah General Hospital during the year. The total income was Rs. 4,51,981 against Rs. 4,43,679 in the previous year, and the expenditure Rs. 4,37,670 against Rs. 4,24,229. This increase in expenditure is noticeable under the heads of Diet, Miscellaneous charges and Buildings and repairs. There was a decrease of Rs. 28,604 in the expenditure incurred at the Medical College, Presidency General and Campbell Hospitals, and a total increase of Rs. 8,610 in the Police, Howrah and Voluntary Lock-hospitals. The total income from local sources of all kinds was Rs. 1,81,174 against Rs. 1,52,446 in the previous year. The closing balance for 1886 amounted to Rs. 14,310 against Rs. 19,449 in 1885. The net cost to Government of all hospitals amounted to Rs. 2,51,355, which was less by Rs. 19,994 than the amount expended by Government in the previous year.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

J. WARE EDGAR,

Chief Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

RESOLUTION ON THE REPORT ON THE ADMINISTRATION OF THE CUSTOMS DEPARTMENT FOR THE YEAR 1886-87.

FINANCIAL DEPARTMENT—CUSTOMS.

Calcutta, the 4th December 1887.

RESOLUTION.

READ—

The Report on the Administration of the Customs Department for the year 1886-87.

The year was marked by a very satisfactory increase in the sea-borne trade of the Province, and the aggregate value, which had fallen from Rs. 73,62,56,358 in 1883-84, to Rs. 68,72,16,029 in 1885-86, rose again to Rs. 73,19,10,281. The most striking features in the import trade of Calcutta were an increase from rather more than 10½ crores to a little less than 13½ crores in cotton goods, the latter figure being the highest ever yet reached; a considerable increase in silk piece-goods, woollen piece-goods and shawls, apparel, umbrellas, mineral oil, corals and agricultural implements; a small falling off in metals and liquors and a considerable falling off in spices and raw silk. In the export trade jute, gunny-bags, tea, oilseeds, opium, paddy, gram, wheat, indigo, myrobolams, raw cotton and raw silk show an increase. The increase in gram, raw cotton and wheat, was no less than 98, 85, and 68 per cent. respectively. On the other hand, there was a decline in rice, hides and skins, silk piece-goods, lac, sugar and tobacco. The most marked variations in the distribution of the trade were an increase from 64.48 to 65.94 per cent. with the United Kingdom, and a decrease from 12.6 to 9.6 per cent. with China. There was an increase in the trade with the United States, France, Mauritius, Italy, Austria and "other countries," and a decrease in that with Ceylon, the Straits Settlements, and Australia. No explanation has been offered of the falling off in the imports of treasure from China, Hong-Kong showing a decrease from Rs. 1,11,56,804 to Rs. 25,24,797 simultaneously with an increase of Rs. 16,32,281 in the value of Indian merchandize received; but the Lieutenant-Governor understands it to be an incident in the method of adjusting a circular trade which is regulated by fluctuations in exchange and in specie shipments.

2. The following statement shows the gross and net customs revenue collected in Bengal during the past five years:—

	1882-83.	1883-84.	1884-85.	1885-86.	1886-87.

The total receipts during the year under review show a marked improvement, the figures being higher than those of any other year under comparison. In the net duty an increase of Rs. 13,27,950, or 6·3 per cent., over the previous year is observed, owing principally to larger clearances of salt. Import duty, exclusive of salt, also advanced by Rs 1,06,372, or 7·6, in consequence chiefly of heavy quantities of spirituous liquors having been cleared from bond immediately before the passing of Act II of 1887 in January last. The decline in the export duty of Rs. 2,30,281, or 12·7 per cent., follows from the falling off in the shipments of rice. From the returns of the several ports, it is seen that the net revenue of Calcutta has risen by 6·7 per cent., and that of Chittagong by 25 per cent., while the net receipts of all other ports have fallen off in varying proportions.

3. The total value of the imports into Bengal, exclusive of Government transactions, rose from Rs. 27,87,05,795 to Rs. 29,79,22,855. The improvement occurred chiefly in foreign merchandize, where it exceeded 3 crores and 35 lakhs. The imports of treasure, on the other hand, declined by more than 1 crore and 56 lakhs. In the coasting trade the imports of merchandize advanced by about 9 lakhs, and those of treasure by over 4 lakhs.

4. The value of the export trade of the year amounted to Rs. 43,39,80,426 against Rs. 40,85,10,234 in 1885-86. In the foreign trade there was an improvement of Rs. 2,52,27,147, consisting of an increase of Rs. 2,48,62,322 in the value of merchandize entirely of Indian produce, and of Rs. 3,64,825 in treasure. The total exports of the coasting trade advanced by Rs. 2,43,045 or 3 per cent.

5. Value of stores imported and exported on behalf of Government was Rs. 96,78,007 and Rs. 1,02,819 respectively. Exclusive of these stores, the imports of the foreign trade of Calcutta rose from Rs. 22,59,51,097 to Rs. 24,34,59,221, and the exports from Rs. 32,14,62,739 to Rs. 34,63,63,512. The percentage of the foreign trade of Calcutta carried through the Suez Canal rose from 62·6 in 1885-86 to 64 in 1886-87.

6. The figures of the imports of cotton goods, as has already been stated, are the highest yet recorded. One important feature in connection with this trade is the growth of direct transactions between Manchester and Native firms in Calcutta. Mr. Samuells, in his very interesting report, expresses doubt whether this movement will continue, and reasonably points to the difficulties of distance in regard to the selection of goods and the settlement of disputes. The import trade in metals has not recovered from the decline noticed in the last year's Resolution; the falling off amounted to Rs. 75,239 or 4 per cent., and occurred chiefly in copper and iron, wrought and unwrought. Machinery and mill work show an improvement of Rs. 4,68,340 or 12 per cent. The increasing area under tea cultivation, and the desire to substitute machinery for manual labour, account for the larger imports. The trade in mineral oil improved from 11,614,433 gallons to 17,053,241 gallons, in consequence of the extensive production in the United States and the low prices ruling throughout the year.

7. The imports of malt liquor rose from 560,228 gallons to 569,714 gallons, but the value decreased from Rs. 13,21,676 to Rs. 12,90,773. On the other hand, the quantity of spirits imported fell from 326,560 gallons to 311,856 gallons; but there was an increase in value from Rs. 24,45,744 to Rs. 25,05,083. Wines and liquors decreased both in quantity and value, and the decline amounted to 12,785 gallons or 10 per cent. The trade in corals advanced from 119,841lbs to 174,545lbs in quantity, and from Rs. 10,94,257 to Rs. 15,48,482 in value. The receipts were the highest ever reached and caused an accumulation of stock. The imports of agricultural implements exhibit an increase of 14 per cent., due to the expanding demand for these articles in tea gardens.

8. To the total value of goods of Indian produce exported from Calcutta, opium contributed 17½ per cent., jute 15 per cent., grain and pulse 14 per cent., tea 13½ per cent., oilseeds 11½ per cent., indigo 7½ per cent., hides and skins 7½ per cent., cotton raw 4½ per cent., silk, raw and manufactured, 2 per cent.; other exports, of which lac, saltpetre and castor-oil are the most important, made up the balance. With the slight improvement in the jute crop during the past year, the exports of raw fibre increased by 200,375 cwts., or nearly 3 per cent. The trade in gunny-bags advanced from 62,184,631 to 63,903,563 in number, and from Rs. 95,89,549 to Rs. 1,04,02,879 in value. The shipments of rice fell off by 424,369 cwts., with a corresponding decrease in value of Rs. 35,47,876. The exports of tea further improved in quantity from 67,851,749lbs. to 77,409,796lbs., and in value from Rs. 4,23,75,164 to Rs. 4,62,22,998. The United Kingdom took almost the whole of the increased outturn, nearly ten millions of pounds, but the increase was too much for the market to absorb at profitable rates, and the result was a fall in the average price per pound. It is satisfactory to observe that efforts are being made to introduce Indian tea in Italy.

9. The following table shows the exports of wheat from Calcutta for the last five years:—

1882-83.		1883-84.		1884-85.		1885-86.		1886-87.
Cwt.	Rs.	Cwt.	Rs.	Cwt.	Rs.	Cwt.	Rs.	Cwt.	Rs.
4,438,503	1,79,33,850	7,611,414	3,04,27,244	2,501,677	99,91,067	4,189,531	1,52,96,583	7,035,376	2,82,81,636

The United Kingdom took 25 per cent. more during the past year. The transactions with Belgium and France revived, in spite of the increase in the rate of duty levied on wheat in the latter country. The exports to Italy were unusually large, being 328,071 cwts. against an average of 3,650 cwts. in the preceding four years. Mr. Samuells points out that whereas Bengal only exported 4,189,672 cwts. in 1885-86 against 16,849,697 exported by Bombay and Sindh, in 1886-87 it exported 7,037,957 cwts. against 15,219,920.

10. Among other articles of export, indigo shows an improvement of 15 per cent. in quantity, and 2·5 per cent. in value. The steady advance in the exports of raw hides and skins, observed in the last year's Resolution, received a check; under the former head the falling off was more than 9 per cent., and upwards of 14 per cent. in the latter. With the increase in the outturn of the cotton crop, the exports of the article developed remarkably, the quantity shipped being 770,940 cwts. against 416,759 cwts. in the previous year. The exports of raw silk improved by 10 per cent. The trade in lac diminished by 4,262 cwts. in weight, and by Rs. 6,87,876 in value. The transactions in refined sugar dwindled from 4,229 cwts. to 1,199 cwts.

11. The imports of gold declined from Rs. 49,35,489 to Rs. 23,46,135, or Treasure.

52 per cent. The exports fell off from Rs. 7,04,055 to Rs. 6,18,980. In the imports of silver there was also a heavy decrease from Rs. 2,14,42,295 to Rs. 83,96,317, while the exports, on the other hand, rose from Rs. 2,90,500 to Rs. 7,40,400.

12. The total value of the imports of the coasting trade of Calcutta fell off from Rs. 3,13,83,717 to Rs. 3,11,69,029, while the value of exports rose from Rs. 4,65,40,221 to Rs. 5,51,28,596. In 1885-86, there was a decrease in quantity with an increase in value, but in 1886-87, while the imports of cotton twist and yarn advanced in quantity by 279,810lbs., they diminished in value by Rs. 4,07,851.

13. The foreign trade of Chittagong shows signs of improvement.

Chittagong Port.

The total value has risen from Rs. 82,94,672 to Rs. 96,95,506, comprising increases of Rs. 3,51,465 in imports and of Rs. 10,49,369 in exports. The total coasting trade of the port has also improved by Rs. 8,61,438.

14. A downward tendency is observed in the trade of the Orissa ports; the total value again fell off from Rs. 1,70,33,061 to Rs. 1,31,08,614. The decline was shared by the foreign as well as the coasting trade of all the ports.

15. The trade of Naraingunge, which is a port of coasting trade only, recovered from the decline noticed last year. The imports rose from Rs. 3,43,663 to Rs. 3,62,683, in consequence of the increase in the quantity of salt under bond brought from Chittagong. The increase in exports, from Rs. 65,57,373 to Rs. 87,96,605, occurred mainly in the articles of Indian produce.

16. The Lieutenant-Governor's acknowledgments are due to the Board for their efficient supervision of the work of the department during the year, and to Mr. Samuells for his very interesting and complete report. The names of the officers favourably spoken of by the Board will be communicated to the Appointment Department.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

COLMAN MACAULAY,

Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

RESOLUTION ON THE BOARD'S REPORT ON THE ADMINISTRATION OF THE EXCISE DEPARTMENT FOR 1886-87.

FINANCIAL DEPARTMENT—EXCISE.

Calcutta, the 5th December 1887.

RESOLUTION.

READ—

The Board's Report on the Administration of the Excise Department for 1886-87.

1. The financial results of the administration of the Excise Department in Bengal during the year 1886-87 show an increase of Rs. 5,41,557 in the revenue, and an increase also of Rs. 50,893 in the charges. Increases in revenue occurred in most of the districts; the most marked decreases being in Chittagong (Rs. 35,984), Dacca (Rs. 14,830), Mozufferpore (Rs. 9,092), Tipperah (Rs. 7,677). In Calcutta, where there was a large falling off of Rs. 97,841 during the year 1885-86, there was an increase of Rs. 96,617 during the year under review. The increase in the charges was due to the fact that during the year under report larger excise establishments were sanctioned in most of the districts in order to enable district officers to carry out the proposals made by the Excise Commission. The variations in each division and the incidence of the revenue were:—

The settlements of excise shops for the current year show a net increase of Rs. 3,94,070 as compared with 1886-87 the year under review. This increase is due to better management and to the breaking down of combinations of abkars, and especially to the systematic efforts, now for the first time made, to fix upset prices with reference to the ascertained profits of various kinds of shops.

3. The total number of shops licensed for the sale of country spirits was 4,280 against 4,204 in 1885-86. There was an increase of 82 shops licensed under the sudder distillery system, and a decrease of six shops under the outstill system. The net revenue derived from country spirits during the year amounted to Rs. 46,91,299 against Rs. 44,38,237 in the previous year, showing an increase of Rs. 2,53,062 in favour of the year under review. There were increases of revenue in almost all the districts, the only decreases of any importance having occurred in the districts of Hooghly (Rs. 19,665), and Dacca (Rs. 19,574). The decrease in Hooghly is due largely to the decrease in the consumption of duty-paid liquor to the extent of 2,074 gallons. This was owing partly to the discontinuance of a practice under which a shop in the 24-Pergunnahs district was supplied with liquor from the Hooghly distillery, but mainly to general causes. One of these is said to have been the reduction in the number of workmen employed in the jute mills; another the smuggling of outstill liquor into the distillery area. The decrease in Dacca is mainly due to an absence of adequate competition owing to the failure of the vendors to reap the profits they had expected in the previous year, and to the want of confidence caused by the introduction of new rules and restrictions. The sudder distillery system was in force during the year in the town of Burdwan; the district of Hooghly, except the outlying sub-division of Jehanabad; Calcutta, and parts of 24-Pergunnahs adjoining the city; the town of Dacca and its neighbourhood; the towns of Patna, Gya, Durbhunga, Chupra, Bettiah, Arrah, Monghyr, Jamalpore, and Bhagulpore; the entire district of the Sonthal Pergunnahs; the head-quarter stations in the Orissa Division, and a limited area around them, and at Giridhi in the district of Hazaribagh. The outstill system continued in force in the rest of the province. Though no change was made during the year, the outstill system was, on the strong representation of the local officers and the Board, extended from 1st April to the rural portion of the Hooghly (including Howrah) district, under Government orders of 3rd November 1886. A special Deputy Collector, Baboo Gyanendra Nath Pal, was employed to visit all parts of the district and carefully revise the system of distribution of liquor shops. The result has been that the number of distillery shops has been reduced from 139 to 47, while it has only been necessary to increase the number of outstills shops from 30 to 52. Though the total number of shops has thus been reduced from 169 to 76 there has been an increase of Rs. 35,937 in the license fees under the new settlement. The Board report that the capacities of all the stills and the number and size of the fermenting vats allowed to them have been carefully restricted according to the ascertained local demand for spirits.

4. Important changes were introduced during the year under review into the Excise system in the district of Patna, with a view to carrying out the recommendations of the Excise Commission. The capacities of stills and fermenting vats were limited to the size in each locality ascertained to be capable of supplying the local demand. The system at the outset did not produce favourable results but now the abkars are satisfied, while the consumption of liquor and the number of cases of prosecution for drunkenness have decreased, and the revenue has been more than maintained. In the current year the Patna system was introduced in ten other districts, where reliable statistics of the local demand had been obtained. It must be borne in mind, however, that in large towns the difficulties which stand in the way of discovery of illicit distillation are very great. The fixing of a minimum price for liquor and the limiting of the capacities of stills and vats, bring with them temptations to evade the law, and necessitate increased vigilance on the part of the Police and Excise staff.

5. During the year 1886-87 the number of licenses issued for the wholesale vend of rum was the same as that issued during the previous year, viz. 20. The number of licenses issued for the retail sale, however, fell from 86 to 81. The revenue from rum rose from Rs. 77,091 in 1885-86 to Rs. 1,08,111 in 1886-87. The increase was chiefly in Calcutta, where there was an advance both in license fees and duty, that in fees being the result of favourable settlements. The total quantity of rum of country manufacture passed for consumption amounted to 15,160 gallons against 9,845 gallons passed in the previous year. The increase in consumption was due to Messrs. Ahmuty and Company having cleared a larger quantity of rum than usual in anticipation of enhanced duty, and also to a considerable quantity of Madras spirit having paid duty through the Excise Superintendent of Calcutta, in accordance with the orders of Government under which duty realized under section 148 of the Sea Customs Act VIII of 1878 is now credited as excise duty. There was a decrease in revenue of Rs. 1,236 in the district of Hooghly.

6. The revenue from the sale of licenses for the sale of imported wines amounted to Rs. 2,09,854, or Rs. 8,612 below the revenue of the previous year, the number of licenses falling off by 19. There were decreases in all the divisions, except Chittagong, Bhagulpore, and Orissa.

7. The number of licenses issued for the sale of tari amounted to 19,501 against 19,555 issued in 1885-86. The revenue from license fees amounted to Rs. 6,89,312, showing an increase of Rs. 20,760 in comparison with the fees realized in the previous year. The increase was contributed by most of the districts. The only decrease of importance (Rs. 3,469) was in the district of Hooghly, and of it three-fourths occurred in Howrah, where a combination of tari vendors consequent on the raising of the upset prices of the shops caused many shops to remain unlet.

8. Pachwai was sold during the year in 26 districts against 27 districts in the previous year, the number of licenses taken out being 2,196 against 2,162 taken out in 1885-86. The revenue realized from license fees rose from Rs. 1,50,544 in 1885-86 to Rs. 1,78,263 in the year under review, the average realizations of the previous five years being Rs. 1,66,687. The net results of the year, after adjustment of advance collections, show an increase at Rs. 26,289 due to good harvests.

9. The quantity of ganja estimated to have been produced during the year was 7,926 maunds against 3,887 maunds produced in the previous year. The result was a fall in the wholesale price per maund of flat ganja from Rs. 15 to Rs. 40 in 1885-86 to Rs. 10 to Rs. 40 in 1886-87, and in that of round ganja from Rs. 20 to Rs. 50 in 1885-86, to Rs. 15 to Rs. 40 in 1886-87. There was an increase of 31 in the number of shops and of 548 maunds in the quantity of the drug consumed. The revenue from license fees increased from Rs. 8,60,991 to Rs. 8,90,402, and the revenue from duty from Rs. 10,85,636 to Rs. 11,85,033. There were 13 petty cases of ganja smuggling detected during the year against 8 in the previous year. All the cases were tried in the Nowgong sub-division, where it is believed that the number of cases detected give no true indication of the amount of smuggling which goes on.

The strengthening of the ganja establishment which took place in March of this year will, it is hoped, check this practice. The duty on ganja in Orissa has been raised since the close of the year.

10. During the year 1886-87 as compared with 1885-86 there was a decrease of 81 in the number of licenses issued for the sale of excise opium, an increase of 46 maunds in the consumption, and an increase of Rs. 47,783 in the revenue realized. The increase was under both "license fees" and "sale proceeds," and amounted to Rs. 13,048 and Rs. 34,735, respectively. In Chittagong only was there a decrease in revenue under this head, a limit having been put to the quantity of opium permitted to be sold, in order to check the illegitimate trade with Burma. Since the close of the year the fixed selling price of Excise Opium has been raised in Midnapore from Rs. 29 to Rs. 30 per seer to prevent smuggling from Midnapore into Balasore.

11. The action taken by the Board under the orders of Government towards carrying into practice the suggestions made by the Excise Commission is detailed in chapter XIII of their report. Some of the measures carried out during the year have been noticed above. As the subject is an important one, it will be well to enumerate the chief of those that have not been mentioned. There has been a general reduction of the capacity of outstills throughout the province. The aggregate number of stills has, during the year under review, been reduced by 38, and the aggregate working capacity of all the stills in the province has been reduced by 42 per cent. With a view to check consumption, the duty on distillery liquor has been increased in 10 out of the 20 districts in which the sudder distillery is in force, while to prevent smuggling of outstill liquor into distillery areas, a zone round the limits of each has been fixed within which no outstills have been allowed. There can be no question that this measure will make it harder to smuggle outstill liquor into sudder distillery limits, as such liquor can now be confiscated anywhere within the zone, before it reaches the crowded distillery area where it is more difficult to detect it. Further to check the importation of outstill liquor, the number and size of the fermenting vessels allowed to the outstills bordering on this zone have been strictly limited according to the ascertained figures of local demand. With the purpose of enhancing the selling price, and thereby reducing the consumption of liquor, it has been ordered that the upset price of outstills at auctions shall be fixed at half the gross monthly profits, and in order to ensure the thorough working of the various changes and improvements introduced, an increase in establishment has been sanctioned, and great care has been taken to place competent officers in charge. Finally the sale of outstill liquor to children under 12 years has been unconditionally prohibited under penalty of fine and forfeiture of license. ●

12. There were prosecutions in every district during the year for offences against the excise laws. The number of arrests was 4,372 against 4,122 in 1885-86, and the number of persons convicted 3,873 against 3,583. Of the persons arrested, 3,923 were other than licensed vendors, 448 were vendors who had committed breaches of license, and one was an employé of the Excise Department.

13. The names of the officers selected by the Board for special mention will be communicated to the Appointment Department. The Lieutenant-Governor desires to thank the Board for their very careful and efficient administration of the Excise Department, during the year under review.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

COLMAN MACAULAY,

Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

CALCUTTA, the 6th December 1887

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL FOR THE WEEK ENDING FRIDAY, THE 2ND OF DECEMBER 1887.

THE previous week had been one of ordinary north-east monsoon or cold-weather conditions over the whole of Bengal, though these conditions had not been very strongly developed. Skies had been practically cloudless, temperature and humidity had been fairly low, pressure had been decidedly high, while rainfall had been entirely absent from the whole province. Almost precisely similar conditions have obtained throughout the present week, and no disturbances have occurred either over Upper India or in the Bay of Bengal, such as sometimes generate in December, to in any way alter or intensify the ordinary north-east monsoon conditions. Beyond the fact therefore that there have been the usual slight oscillations of barometric pressure and of temperature, and beyond slight and unimportant alterations in wind direction and force, there have been no points in the meteorology of the week which call for any notice whatever.

Pressure—Was during the previous week 0·061 inch in excess of the normal. Generally speaking pressure rose on 26th November and fell slowly on the 27th and 28th; it then rose again on the 29th and 30th, while at the close of the week it had again commenced to fall. Taking the mean of the pressures recorded at the stations which have been established for a considerable period, it is found that the average pressure of the province has been 0·025 inch in excess of the normal. The excess pressure has therefore diminished in amount rather rapidly during the week, but the same feature of rather large excess pressure in the northern districts of the province still obtains, and thus while pressure at such stations as False Point, Saugor Island, and Chittagong has been almost normal, at Durbhunga the excess has been 0·060 inch, at Purneah 0·046 inch, and at Bankipore 0·048 inch.

Temperature.—The mean temperature of the province for the week has again been in excess of the normal. In the previous week the general excess was no less than 2·7°, but in the present week the excess has been reduced to 1·3°. The largest excess is reported from North Bengal, where it has amounted to 2°; in South-West and East Bengal, in South Behar and in Chutia Nagpur the excess has varied from 1° to 2°, while in North Behar and Orissa the excess has been smaller than 1°.

The excess has been more pronounced in the day than in the night temperatures, for at eight out of nine typical stations in the different districts in the province contained in the table below, the mean day or maximum temperature of the week has been in excess of the normal, and the average excess has been 1·4°. On the other hand, at four out of the same nine stations the mean minimum or night temperatures have been below the normal, though the average minimum temperature of the nine stations has shown a slight excess of 0·6°. The lowest minimum temperature reported for the week at any plains station was 47·9° at Motihari; temperatures of between 49° and 50° were reported in South Behar and Chutia Nagpur, and of between 51° and 52° in South-West and North Bengal.

The results of observations at the Alipore Observatory are not rigorously comparable with the registers of past years (at the Park-street Observatory). The barometer is about 3 feet higher at Alipore, and, other things being equal, reads therefore .003 lower. The diurnal range of temperature is also greater at Alipore, and the mean temperature apparently about 1.6° lower; and, finally, the thermometer which furnished the record of temperature at the Surveyor-General's Office during 20 years and upwards is found to read 0.6 higher than the Kew standard thermometer, which is the standard of reference at the present Observatory.

27th November to 3rd December 1887.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from observations made at 6h, 10h, 16h, and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

On bids of Rs. 1,600 and upwards, but less than Rs. 2,000 per chest, Rs. 400 per chest.
And so on, Rs. 100 being added to the deposit for every bid additional, to the extent of Rs. 400.

Bengal Receipts or deposit of other public securities as aforesaid shall have been delivered in, shall be re-sold at such time or times and under such conditions of re-sale as the Board of Revenue shall see fit; and all losses and expenses whatsoever attending such re-sale shall be borne and paid by the defaulters, whilst any profit accruing from such re-sale shall be forfeited to Government.

6.—The said Promissory Notes shall be absolutely payable in any event, and the amount thereof shall be absolutely forfeited upon such default as before mentioned, and the amount thereof shall not go or be credited in reduction of any loss on re-sale or expenses thereby incurred, but shall be recoverable whether such re-sale shall be had or not, or whether there shall be a loss on such re-sale or not.

7.—The Promissory Notes taken on the day of sale under the fifth condition, if remaining unredeemed at 3-30 P.M. of the fifth day following the day of sale, or 1-30 P.M. if the last day falls on a Saturday, will be placed in the hands of the Solicitor to the Government for realization in such manner as to him shall seem fit.

8.—No tender of money, Bank of Bengal Receipts, or public securities, on account of opium upon which the prescribed deposit may not have been made before the prescribed time in clause 5 on the fifth day following the day of sale will be afterwards accepted. Provided always that money so subsequently tendered may be taken in payment of the said Promissory Note, but such acceptance of money shall in no way entitle the payer thereof to any right to delivery of the lot or lots in which the said note was given, or to any of the rights of a purchaser thereof, or release the payer from liability for any unpaid balance of such notes or from the additional liability for the loss and expenses of such re-sale as provided for in clauses No. 5 and No. 6.

9.—The opium advertised for sale shall be paid for not later than by 3-30 P.M. of the fifteenth day from the day of sale, provided it does not fall on a Saturday; if it falls on a Saturday, the opium must be paid for by 1-30 P.M.; and in case any lots of such opium shall not be so paid for and adjusted, then the cash deposit made under the fifth condition, or any public securities that may have been deposited on account of such lots or chests, shall be forfeited, and the opium shall be disposed of on account of Government at such time and in such manner as the Board of Revenue shall think fit; and the first purchaser shall further be required to make good all expenses and any loss or difference of price between that obtained at the re-sale and the amount at which the opium was first purchased, forfeiting all advantages that may arise from such re-sale, and the liability for the loss or difference of price and expenses shall be in addition to, and wholly independent of, the amount of the deposit so forfeited.

10.—Purchasers taking out certificates or orders for the delivery of opium, after making full payment as above prescribed, shall have the option of naming the number of lots of their purchase, which they may desire to be included in each certificate or order; and it is to be clearly understood that the certificates or orders so taken out shall be considered final, and not afterwards changeable for other certificates or orders authorizing the delivery of single lots, or of a different number of lots or chests, whether more or less, than the number of lots or chests originally required to be included in each certificate or order.

11.—No deposit of public securities under the fifth of the present conditions will be received in this office except from the party recorded as the purchaser in the sale-book, or his authorized agent. The receipt for deposit of public securities will be granted only in the name of such purchaser, and the securities so deposited will be returned when payment in full has been made by the said purchaser or his order.

12.—The officer superintending the sale on the part of the Government is empowered to reject, at his discretion, the bid of any individual, unless such individual shall on demand tender at the time a deposit either in Government of India Notes, Bank of Bengal Receipts, or Government Securities, a sum equal to the amount for which a Promissory Note would otherwise be taken under the fifth of these conditions.

13.—With a view to prevent fictitious biddings designed to obstruct the sale, it is hereby notified that the officer of Government superintending the sale shall be competent, at any time during the sale, to withdraw any unsold lot, and immediately to put it up again for sale.

at a maximum upset price, diminishing the same gradually until a bid is obtained; and the first bond fide bidder for a lot after it has been offered for sale in the mode here described shall be held and declared to be the purchaser of the said lot, and the officer of Government superintending the sale shall also be competent to dispose, in the same manner, of as many of the subsequent lots as he may think proper, provided always that no lot shall be sold below the minimum price of Rs. 800 specified in the second of these conditions.

14.—The purchaser of any lot shall have the option of naming and purchasing in immediate succession, at the same price and under the same conditions, any number of lots of the same Agency opium not exceeding altogether twenty-five lots, provided always that there remain a sufficient number of lots of the opium to complete the said twenty-five.

15.—In the event of any dispute or difference touching or concerning any matter or question arising out of the sale of the opium included in this notification, or adjustment of the account thereof, the same shall and may be tried and decided in the High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal.

16.—The following papers will be exhibited for inspection on the day of sale, or may be seen previously to that date by personal application at the Office of the Board of Revenue:—No. 1, certificate of the opium advertised for sale; No. 2, report of the examination of such opium.

17.—The public are hereby informed that in providing the investment of the opium manufactured at the Patna Factory and the opium manufactured at the Ghazepore Factory for the year 1886-87, the same precautions have been taken as those which have been observed during past years to have the drug procured and sent down in a pure state, to have only the prescribed quantity of leaves used in forming the cakes, and to have the due proportion of opium put into each cake. An account of the weight of the drug when packed at the Patna and Ghazepore Factories, and a statement of the average weight of the chests, indiscriminately taken, for the purpose of comparison, from the despatches on arrival at Calcutta, may be seen on personal application at the Office of the Board of Revenue.

18.—Any further information respecting weight or quality of the opium advertised for sale that may be desired by parties connected with the trade will, as heretofore, be furnished to them on personal application at the Office of the Board of Revenue. But, in accordance with established usage, under no circumstances will the Board of Revenue entertain or recognize any claim to compensation for loss from any alleged deficiency of weight, abstraction of opium, or adulteration of the drug, which may be preferred on reference to chests after the sale and delivery of the opium for shipment.

By order of the Board of Revenue, L. P., K. G. GUPTA, Offg. Secretary.

* The amount is due on account of June 1887 list from the separated share of Shamser Narain Singh and others, for which it was advertised for sale but not sold, as the price offered by the auction-purchaser did not cover the demand, and a notice under section 16, Act XI of 1880, was therefore issued to all the proprietors, but none paid the arrear. Hence, under order of 30th November 1887, all the separated shares of the estate have been cancelled and entire estate has been advertised for sale.

RESOLUTION ON THE ADMINISTRATION REPORT OF THE TRIBUTARY STATES OF ORISSA FOR THE YEAR 1886-87.

RESOLUTION.

POLITICAL.

Calcutta, the 10th December 1887.

READ—

The Annual Report on the Administration of the Tributary States of Orissa for the year 1886-87.

Read also—

The Reports for the years 1884-85 and 1885-86, and the Resolutions recorded thereon

The Report, which has been submitted by Mr. C. T. Metcalfe, C.S.I., who held the office of Superintendent of the Tributary States throughout the period under review, compares favourably in point of brevity with those of the preceding years. The tour of the Superintendent was unusually long, extending over 92 days and including visits to Mohurbhunj, Bamunghati, Dhenkanal, Angul, Boad, Athmalik, the Khondmals, Daspalla, Nayagurh, Keonjhar and Nilgiri. The Assistant Superintendent showed considerable activity in the same direction, and the Managers of Mohurbhunj, Baramba and Narsingpore, as well as the Tehsildar of the Government Estate of Angul, appear likewise to have made useful rounds of inspection. The Tehsildar of the Khondmals, on the other hand, spent only 20 days in camp, and is described by the Superintendent as unfitted for his duties by disease. The question of appointing a successor to him is now before the Lieutenant-Governor.

2. There were several administrative changes during the year, consequent on the deaths of the Rajahs of Tigiria and Dhenkanal, the Rajah of Nilgiri's temporary loss of the powers of speech and reason, and the mismanagement of affairs in Daspalla, which necessitated the removal of the Dewan Baboo Fakir Mohan Senaputty, and the appointment of Moonshi Mahomed Ali to succeed him. The steps taken by the Superintendent in each case were duly reported to and approved by Government. The Report also notices the unsatisfactory condition of the administration of the little State of Pal Lehara, a separate report on which has been promised and is awaited.

3. Of the total demand of Rs. 33,249-7-11 on account of Government tribute, it is satisfactory to note that the sum of Rs. 6,546 was paid in before the commencement of the year, and during it the entire balance, together with an advance of Rs. 4,100-11-8 on the current claim, was realized. Information on various points connected with the financial position of several of the States has been called for and this part of the subject cannot be dealt with in the present review.

4. The Superintendent remarks that the rainfall was seasonable and copious, but that, owing to late sowing, the growth of the crops, especially on the high lands, was stunted and the outturn on the whole only an average one. It is reported, however, in subsequent paragraphs that the autumn harvest was, owing to excessive moisture, poor in seven of the States, and that the late rains were not favourable to the winter crops, the outturn being below the average, except in Angul and Daspalla, where it is said to have failed more or less. Apparently the yield of sugarcane alone was large. Vast quantities of good arable land are lying fallow, the want of communications being a bar to more production than suffices for local consumption; but Mr. Metcalfe thinks that the benefits to be derived from the opening out of the country are becoming appreciated by some of the Chiefs, and that the Cuttack-Benares Railway will, should it eventually pass through the Gurjats, no doubt give an impetus to both agriculture and commerce. The material condition of the people continues to be decidedly backward, and their wants are characterized as being few and easily satisfied. There may be said to be no emigration from or immigration to the Tributary States. The public health was generally good throughout the year, but both cholera and fever appeared in places, and the former assumed an epidemic form in parts of Daspalla, the mortality, however, being fortunately inconsiderable. Vaccine operations were carried on in eight of the States, but the results in Angul, Baramba, Mohurbhunj, and Dhenkanal alone were satisfactory, and the Superintendent states that, notwithstanding all that is being done to popularize the system, it cannot yet be regarded as a success, and that everywhere, except in Mohurbhunj and the Khondmals, there are many more children annually inoculated than vaccinated. The religious element in inoculation is a powerful influence working in its favour, and unsuccessful vaccinations must have a very bad effect. Mr. Metcalfe states that he has noticed instances of the latter, but it is hoped that they are rare.

5. There was a large increase in the number of civil and revenue suits for disposal in the courts of original jurisdiction during the past year, and of this no attempt at an explanation has been made. The total number for disposal, including 2,237 pending from the previous year, was 18,729 against 13,091 in 1885-86, and of these 15,541 were disposed of, while 3,188 remained pending. In Baramba, Dhenkanal, and Mohurbhunj new institutions reached the comparatively high figures 1,962, 8,220, and 5,051, respectively, but, on the other hand, in nine States there were not more than 12 each. These figures altogether exclude the cases tried in the courts of the Native Chiefs. With regard to the criminal administration, it appears that the total number of offences of all classes reported was 2,141 against 2,231 in 1885-86.

In these 3,106 persons were concerned, and the fact that 1,990 of them were convicted is satisfactory. Of 245 civil appeals disposed of, the orders were confirmed in only 124, but the lower criminal courts show a somewhat better result in having been upheld in 59 out of 78 decisions appealed against. The proportionately very large number of criminal cases pending both at the beginning and at the close of the year in the courts of Keonjhar and Nayagurh show that trials do not proceed with regularity and promptitude, and to this the serious attention of the Chiefs of those States should be invited. Recently the police of Dhenkanal, Baramba, and Narsingpore have been placed under the orders of the Assistant Superintendent of Gurjat Police, whose head-quarters have not yet been removed to Dhenkanal, but will be as soon as suitable accommodation can be provided.

6. Sir Steuart Bayley learns with satisfaction that the Tributary Chiefs of Orissa are at length beginning to appreciate the advantage of preserving their forests from reckless destruction, and are in a greater or less degree taking active steps for their protection. The Rajahs of Talcher and Hindole and the Chiefs of Boad, Kandpara, Nayagurh, Runpore and Athgurh have now established reserves, and in Dhenkanal young sap plantations are springing up. The Lieutenant-Governor, however, would be glad of a fuller explanation of the statement that no fresh cutting is allowed in that State, and trusts that throughout the States the measures taken to preserve the forests are not allowed to encroach on the rights and privileges of the people. The Government forest in Angul continues, it is reported, to be maintained at a loss, the expenditure far exceeding the actual receipts. Mr. Metcalfe's remarks (paragraphs 119 and 120) regarding the necessity there is for the curtailment of establishment and the strictest economy in management, will be communicated to the Conservator of Forests. The Superintendent will be asked for a detailed report on the action which he states has been taken with regard to timber and bamboos in Baramba and Narsingpore.

7. Some progress was made in the opening out and improvement of lines of communication, but much yet remains to be done. The completion of the new road from Baripada to Bamunghati is said to have fairly revolutionized the administration of Mohurbhunj by bringing these two places into proximity, and the Manager, Mr. Wylly, and the Engineer, Mr. Morrow, deserve every credit for the successful completion of this undertaking. Mr. Metcalfe's account in paragraph 12 of his discovery of a short route from Daspalla to the Khondmals, hitherto almost beyond the reach of the Superintendent, is interesting, and it appears that by taking this line across the hills, along which a road is being made and the dak now runs, a 16 days' journey is reduced to one of only four. The two principal highways in the mehals, and the only means of communication of the Gurjats with the outer world, are the roads from Cuttack to Sumbalpur, the unsatisfactory condition of which has been noticed again and again, and it is much to be regretted that no improvement seems to have been effected. Mr. Metcalfe's remarks on the subject will be communicated to the Public Works Department.

8. The figures show a large increase of 296 schools and 3,797 pupils in the Tributary States. This advance is admittedly to some extent more apparent than actual, being partly due to the fact that a larger number of patshalas were visited and included in the returns made by the Sub-Inspector. Allowing for this, however, increased attention to educational matters is indicated, and the circumstance must be regarded as satisfactory. Three girls' schools at Mohurbhunj, Dhenkanal, and Athgurh respectively, with a total of 94 pupils, are mentioned, and it is reported that besides these 311 girls attend boys' schools in the Gurjats, and that five of them passed the lower primary scholarship examination. The Chiefs of Runpur, Nayagurh, Hindole, Talcher, and Athmalik have apparently begun to evince considerable interest in education, and have more or less availed themselves of the advice and assistance of the Sub-Inspector of Schools; still, it is noticed that the aggregate number of children of the aboriginal races borne on the school rolls shows no advance, but, on the contrary, a slight falling off, from 1,509 to 1,495 pupils.

9. Mr. Metcalfe urges the expediency of taking over for good, on the part of Government, all postal lines and offices, and he deprecates the continuance of the present arrangement under which moral pressure is put upon the Chiefs to cause them to contribute towards their maintenance. These contributions are in some cases exacted with difficulty, and the Superintendent argues that, as correspondence between his office and the Tributary Chiefs has now become much more frequent, and the people have once enjoyed the benefit of cheap and rapid communication, on political, even more than on social or commercial, grounds it is absolutely necessary that postal arrangements should be conducted with system and regularity—a view in which Sir Stuart Bayley is disposed to concur. The original intention was eventually to relieve the Tributary Mehals of all expenditure in this connection. The matter will be referred to the Post Office authorities.

10. The forests of the Tributary Mehals, especially those of Keonjhar, Pal Lebara, and Mohurbhunj, abound with wild elephants, and an important question regarding the extent to which Government has the power of controlling their capture is now before the Government of India. It is beyond question that the reckless destruction of these animals or anything tending to diminish the supply of them should be restrained as much as possible, and all operations having such a tendency should be jealously watched and, where necessary, brought to the notice of the Lieutenant-Governor.

11. The remarks regarding the officers mentioned in paragraph 162 have been noted, and will be recorded in the Appointment Department.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

J. WARE EDGAR,
Chief Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph. The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL, AND OF THE METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN ASSAM, FOR THE MONTH OF NOVEMBER 1887.

THE normal features of the meteorology of Bengal during November are very simple. Northerly winds blow over the whole of Bengal and these usually extend as a north-easterly wind current over the north and centre of the Bay. These northerly winds are dry and usually give in Bengal almost cloudless skies; temperature also diminishes steadily during the month, the diminution being strongly marked in the night temperatures, and the air is dry. As a rule, little or no rain falls unless it is brought up by one or other of two kinds of disturbances, which almost reverse the normal weather conditions. The first class of disturbances are barometric depressions or cyclonic storms which are formed in the south of the Bay in front of the retreating south-west monsoon. When they form as they do occasionally, they usually advance towards the Madras coast and expend their main force over the south of the Peninsula, but they also generally modify the weather over the whole of the Bay, and if the disturbance is a large one, humid winds may again be forced over Bengal, when skies will cloud over and temperature and humidity rapidly increase, and rain may fall, particularly over the southern and eastern parts of the province. The second class of disturbances are land formed barometric depressions which originate over Upper India and drift sometimes over Bengal, giving clouded skies, increased humidity and temperature, and sometimes light rain. These land formed disturbances seldom occur in November, and if they do occur, they are of little importance.

Except therefore for rainfall brought up by the occurrence of storms in the Bay, as a rule the province is almost rainless in November. Its occurrence and distribution are therefore very capricious, and the normal rainfall of November in Bengal is extremely small. Orissa usually receives a fall of about an inch and a third, and East Bengal one of nearly an inch; but in the other districts the fall is from about a tenth up to a third of an inch.

Meteorology of the month.—At the close of October a large and diffused though by no means intense barometric depression had formed in the south of the Bay, and on the 31st of that month the centre of the feeble storm was off the west coast of the Bay nearly opposite to Madras. The storm subsequently filled up and did not pass over the land. The disturbed conditions, due to the disintegration of the storm, drifted over Bengal, temperature and humidity increased, skies rapidly clouded over, and rainfall became general over Orissa and East Bengal from the commencement of November, while a few showers fell in South-West Bengal. These disturbed conditions ceased from about the 4th or 5th, but on the 6th conditions became disturbed over the Central Provinces, and moderate general rain commenced to fall over this area on this day and on the 7th. This had the effect of partially stopping the cool dry northerly wind current which had been blowing over Bengal, and from the 8th slightly disturbed conditions again existed in Bengal for a few days. Ordinary cold weather conditions then set in from about the 10th, but on the 16th again conditions began to change, winds became variable and light, while cloud proportion, temperature and humidity rapidly increased in South Bengal. These changes were again produced by the existence of a feeble barometric depression in the centre of the Bay, which appeared off the Madras coast on the 18th, and on this day a few rain showers fell in Orissa. With the disappearance of the depression, conditions again became normal, but on the 23rd conditions were disturbed by the formation of a fresh depression in the Bay. The disturbed conditions, however, only lasted two days, and from the 25th up to the close of the month weather was of ordinary north-east monsoon conditions, skies became clear, and temperature and humidity decreased, while rainfall was entirely absent.

Neither of the barometric depressions which were formed in the Bay in November were of much importance, and the retreat of the south-west monsoon down the Bay this year has been unusually quiet, and quite different to the case of 1886, when three fierce cyclones were formed in succession in November, all of which crossed the Madras coast. No land formed depression was formed during the month, and thus the whole of the rainfall was brought up by the existence of the feeble storms in the Bay, and rainfall has therefore occurred principally in Orissa, South Bengal, and East Bengal, while Behar and Chutia Nagpur have been entirely rainless. The periods of rainfall were during the first three or four days of the month and again on the 18th.

Pressure.—The variations of pressure have been of the normal oscillatory character, and have therefore been of little importance. For the whole month, taking into consideration only those stations which have submitted observations for a series of years, and which therefore yield trustworthy averages, the mean pressure in Bengal has been 0.024 inch in excess of the normal. The excess pressure is, however, mainly confined to the north of the province, to North Behar and North Bengal, where at Durrhanga the excess has averaged 0.053 inch, and, at Purneah it has averaged 0.050 inch; on the other hand the pressure in the south of the province has been almost normal, and at False Point the mean pressure has only been 0.007 inch in excess of the normal, at Burdwan the excess has been 0.008 inch, at Chittagong 0.013 inch, and at Saugor Island 0.014 inch. In Assam also pressure has been in slight excess by about 0.012 inch, the largest excess being at Sibsagor, where it has equalled 0.024 inch, and the smallest at Silchar, where it has been 0.008 inch.

Temperature.—The mean temperature of the province of Bengal for the month has been 0.6° in excess of the normal, but the excess has been mainly confined to North Bengal and Chutia Nagpur, where it has varied from one degree to one degree and a half. In North Behar, on the other hand, an almost normal temperature has obtained. The variations during the month have been somewhat important, for during the first week temperature was in defect by about 1° , for the second and third weeks temperature was almost normal, while in the fourth week there was a general excess of no less than 2.7° . The general distribution of temperature throughout the month is clearly shown in the table below, where the weekly variations of maximum, minimum and mean temperatures from the normal at nine typical stations in different districts of the province are given. From this table it will be seen that the largest variations have usually occurred in the night or minimum temperatures :—

Rainfall—Has been entirely absent in Behar and Chutia Nagpur, and practically absent in North Bengal, where the average fall only equals three hundredths of an inch. The heaviest falls have occurred in East Bengal, which has received an average amount of 2.46 inches. Orissa has also received an average fall of 0.77 inch, and South-West Bengal one of 0.20 inch. The fall in East Bengal has been nearly three times as large as the usual fall in November, and in Orissa and South-West Bengal the amounts have been about two-thirds of the normal fall. In East Bengal the Chittagong district received an exceptionally large average fall of 8.76 inches, while the Chittagong Hill Tracts, Backergunge, and Noakholly districts averaged about 4 inches. Falls averaging about an inch were received in the Dacca and Commilla districts, but in Furreedpur the fall was small. In Orissa the principal falls took place in the Pooree district, which averaged 1.90 inches, the Cuttack district received 0.56 inch, while in the Balasore district rainfall was almost absent. Finally, in South-West Bengal the falls were received mainly in the South-West Midnapore and South 24-Pergunnahs district, which averaged 1.35 inches; the Burdwan district received an average of 0.82 inch, and Jessore district 0.42 inch, but elsewhere rainfall was almost absent.

The following table gives in a condensed form the rainfall information for each of the seven large meteorological districts of Bengal for the present year up to the close of November. The numbers there given are the actual average rainfalls in each month in each district expressed as a percentage of the normal fall for the period, and the last column gives also the total rainfall up to the end of November expressed as a percentage of the normal amount :—

CALCUTTA, the 13th December 1887.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL FOR THE WEEK ENDING FRIDAY, THE 9TH OF DECEMBER 1887.

CONDITIONS during the previous week had been normal for the cold weather season in Bengal, and during the present week these conditions have undergone no change. Skies have been almost entirely cloudless, temperature and humidity have been low, pressure has been high, and there has been an entire absence of rain. No disturbances of any importance have been formed either in the Bay or in Upper India, though a feeble barometric depression was formed in the south of the Bay, which advanced towards the south of the peninsula on the 6th and 7th, and though indications of the formation of a depression in Upper India were noticed in the middle of the week, but these never developed to any extent, and neither of these slight disturbances in any way affected the weather in Bengal. The week has therefore been one of almost complete serenity throughout the whole of the Province.

Pressure.—The pressure changes during the week have been unusually small. For the first two days pressure was rising, this was succeeded by a fall, then by a slight rise and a further fall; so that on the whole pressure has not altered to any material extent. For the whole week, taking into consideration only those stations where observations have been made for a series of years, and which therefore yield reliable averages, the mean pressure of the Province has been 0.034 inch in excess of the normal. The feature of prominent excess in the northern districts of the Province has again shown itself this week, and thus at Purneah the excess has been 0.063 inch and at Durbhunga 0.049 inch, while in the south of the Province, at such stations as False Point, the mean pressure has only been 0.014 inch in excess of the normal.

Temperature.—The mean temperature of the whole Province for the week has been 0.5° in excess of the normal, but the variations from normal pressure in different districts are irregular. In Chulia Nagpur and Orissa the mean temperature has been nearly one and a half degrees in excess of the normal, and in South Behar, North Bengal, and South-West Bengal temperature has been in excess, but by small amounts. On the other hand temperature has been in defect of the normal by small amounts in East Bengal and North Behar.

The general distribution of temperature during the week may be seen from the table below, where the mean maximum and minimum temperatures at nine typical stations in different districts of the Province are given compared with the normal for the period, and where it will be seen that the variations are again very irregular. The mean maximum or day temperature of these nine stations has been 0.4° in excess of the normal, while the mean minimum or night temperature has been 0.2° in defect of the normal, and at such stations as Calcutta and Dacca the mean minimum temperature has been as much as 2° in defect of the normal—causes of the European in the Municipalities were recently taken, as the cause of this section of the community, taken in February 1881, was not reliable owing to the European being at a minimum in that month. It was not necessary to re-examine them. The ratios have been calculated from the above figures.

General remarks on the fluctuation of principal staples carried over the East Indian Railway during 5 weeks ended 29th October 1887.

INCREASES.

Jute, raw.—This increase was entirely in the short lead traffic from the Eastern Bengal State Railway via the Jubilee Bridge to stations near Calcutta.

Gunny.—Due to despatches up-country to meet the increase in the linseed trade.

Fruits, other kinds.—The increase was chiefly in betelnuts from Scaldah and in myrabolams from stations on the Jubbulpore line for Bombay.

Rice (husked and unhusked).—There was a decrease in the weight carried and an increase in the earnings due to despatches in the upward direction to meet partial failure of crops.

Other rain and spring crops.—Due to despatches from districts having a surplus over their requirements, to those where the stocks were exhausted owing to a partial failure of crops.

Minerals.—This increase was principally in lime traffic from Rajbandh, Durgapur, Odal, Raneeunge and Barakar on account of the Kidderpore dock works.

Iron.—The increase was principally at Howrah due to the demand at nearly all principal marts being good.

Oil.—This was in the despatches of kerosine oil from Howrah despatched to nearly all the important trade centres on the line.

Railway Material, Foreign.—Due chiefly to despatches of material for the Indian Midland Railway to Cawnpore from Bombay via Jubbulpore.

Saltpetre.—The increase was in despatches to Howrah principally from Sultangunge, Mokameh, Digla Ghat and Cawnpore.

Seeds.—The increase was chiefly in linseed to Calcutta for export.

DECREASES.

Coal and coke.—There was a decrease in the upward despatches and an increase in the downward traffic; the former was due to less demands from foreign railways and the latter to considerable despatches of coal made to stations on the Eastern Bengal State Railway via the Jubilee Bridge.

Pisco-gonds, European.—There was an increase in weight and a decrease in earnings due to ordinary fluctuation after the Doorga Poojah Holidays.

Cotton, raw.—The season this year is considerably later than last year and the crop is below the average.

Other fibres, raw.—The decrease was almost entirely in hemp from Allahabad.

Wheat.—As reported last month, the stocks are almost exhausted, hence the decrease.

Gram and Pulses.—There was an increase in weight carried attended with a decrease in the earnings due to short lead traffic despatched in response to local demands.

Salt.—Due to decreased despatches from Howrah after the large business done in September 1887.

Tobacco.—This decrease may be attributed to the tobacco season being a bad one.

The following are the conditions of sale:—

1.—The opium will be sold for exportation by sea only, and no certificate will be granted except to cover such export.

2.—The opium will be ordinarily offered for sale at an upset price of Rs. 800 per chest, and sold to the highest bidder above that price, except under the circumstances for which provision is made by clause 13 of these conditions of sale. The bids must advance by Rs. 5 at a time.

3.—The sale shall commence at the hour of 11 A.M. of the day fixed by previous notification, and shall not be continued after the hour of 5 P.M.; but if at that hour any of the lots advertised for sale shall remain unsold, the sale may, at the discretion of the Board of Revenue, be resumed on the next day following (not being Sunday or a public holiday), at the hour of 11 A.M., and so on until the whole of the remaining lots are disposed of; or, if the whole quantity advertised shall not be sold on the day appointed, the Board of Revenue may dispose of the lots which remain on-hand at a future sale.

4.—Each lot shall contain five chests.

5.—A Promissory Note for a sum, calculated according to the scale noted in the margin,

DEPOSIT.
When the amount bid is less than Rs. 1,200 per chest, Rs. 900 per chest.
On bids of Rs. 1,200 and upwards, but less than Rs. 1,600 per chest, Rs. 800 per chest.
On bids of Rs. 1,600 and upwards, but less than Rs. 2,000 per chest, Rs. 400 per chest.
And so on, Rs. 100 being added to the deposit for every bid additional, to the extent of Rs. 400.

shall be taken as a deposit on each lot from the purchaser in the sale-room and before the lot is registered in the sale-book, and all such Promissory Notes shall be redeemed on the part of the purchasers at this Office by Bank of Bengal receipts or by substitution of other public securities of the Government of India, on or before 3-30 P.M. in the afternoon of the fifth day after the sale, provided it does not fall on a Saturday; if it falls on a Saturday, the said notes must be redeemed by 1-30 P.M., or, on the other hand, failing such redemption by the time aforesaid, then the lot or lots for which no Bank of Bengal Receipts or deposit of other public securities as aforesaid shall have been delivered in, shall be re-sold at such time or times and under such conditions of re-sale as the Board of Revenue shall see fit; and all losses and expenses whatsoever attending such re-sale shall be borne and paid by the defaulters, whilst any profit accruing from such re-sale shall be forfeited to Government.

6.—The said Promissory Notes shall be absolutely payable in any event, and the amount thereof shall be absolutely forfeited upon such default as before mentioned, and the amount thereof shall not go or be credited in reduction of any loss on re-sale or expenses thereby incurred, but shall be recoverable whether such re-sale shall be had or not, or whether there shall be a loss on such re-sale or not.

7.—The Promissory Notes taken on the day of sale under the fifth condition, if remaining unredeemed at 3-30 P.M. of the fifth day following the day of sale, or 1-30 P.M. if the last day falls on a Saturday, will be placed in the hands of the Solicitor to the Government for realization in such manner as to him shall seem fit.

8.—No tender of money, Bank of Bengal Receipts, or public securities, on account of opium upon which the prescribed deposit may not have been made before the prescribed time in clause 5 on the fifth day following the day of sale will be afterwards accepted. Provided always that money so subsequently tendered may be taken in payment of the said Promissory Note, but such acceptance of money shall in no way entitle the payer thereof to any right to delivery of the lot or lots in respect whereof the said note was given, or to any of the rights of a purchaser thereof, or release the payer from liability for any unpaid balance of such notes or from the additional liability for the loss and expenses of such re-sale as provided for in clauses No. 5 and No. 6.

9.—The opium advertised for sale shall be paid for not later than by 3-30 P.M. of the fifteenth day from the day of sale, provided it does not fall on a Saturday; if it falls on a Saturday, the opium must be paid for by 1-30 P.M.; and in case any lots of such opium shall not be so paid for and adjusted, then the cash deposit made under the fifth condition, or any public securities that may have been deposited on account of such lots or chests, shall be forfeited, and the opium shall be disposed of on account of Government at such time and in such manner as the Board of Revenue shall think fit; and the first purchaser shall further be required to make good all expenses and any loss or difference of price between that obtained at the re-sale and the amount at which the opium was first purchased, forfeiting all advantages that may arise from such re-sale, and the liability for the loss or difference of price and expenses shall be in addition to, and wholly independent of, the amount of the deposit so forfeited.

10.—Purchasers taking out certificates or orders for the delivery of opium, after making full payment as above prescribed, shall have the option of naming the number of lots of their purchase, which they may desire to be included in each certificate or order; and it is to be clearly understood that the certificates or orders so taken out shall be considered final, and not afterwards changeable for other certificates or orders authorizing the delivery of single lots, or of a different number of lots or chests, whether more or less, than the number of lots or chests originally required to be included in each certificate or order.

11.—No deposit of public securities under the fifth of the present conditions will be received in this office except from the party recorded as the purchaser in the sale-book, or his authorized agent. The receipt for deposit of public securities will be granted only in the name of such purchaser, and the securities so deposited will be returned when payment in full has been made by the said purchaser or his order.

12.—The officer superintending the sale on the part of the Government is empowered to reject, at his discretion, the bid of any individual, unless such individual shall on demand tender at the time a deposit either in Government of India Notes, Bank of Bengal Receipts, or Government Securities, a sum equal to the amount for which a Promissory Note would otherwise be taken under the fifth of these conditions.

13.—With a view to prevent fictitious biddings designed to obstruct the sale, it is hereby notified that the officer of Government superintending the sale shall be competent, at any time during the sale, to withdraw any unsold lot, and immediately to put it up again for sale at a maximum upset price, diminishing the same gradually until a bid is obtained; and the first bond fide bidder for a lot after it has been offered for sale in the mode here described shall be held and declared to be the purchaser of the said lot, and the officer of Government superintending the sale shall also be competent to dispose, in the same manner, of as many of the subsequent lots as he may think proper, provided always that no lot shall be sold below the minimum price of Rs. 800 specified in the second of these conditions.

14.—The purchaser of any lot shall have the option of naming and purchasing in immediate succession, at the same price and under the same conditions, any number of lots of the same Agency opium not exceeding altogether twenty-five lots, provided always that there remain a sufficient number of lots of the opium to complete the said twenty-five.

15.—In the event of any dispute or difference touching or concerning any matter or question arising out of the sale of the opium included in this notification, or adjustment of the account thereof, the same shall and may be tried and decided in the High Court of Judicature at Port William in Bengal.

16.—The following papers will be exhibited for inspection on the day of sale, or may be seen previously to that date by personal application at the Office of the Board of Revenue:—No. 1, certificate of the opium advertised for sale; No. 2, report of the examination of such opium.

17.—The public are hereby informed that in providing the investment of the opium manufactured at the Patna Factory and the opium manufactured at the Chhapra Factory for the year 1886-87, the same precautions have been taken as those which have been observed during past years to have the drug procured and sent down in a pure state, to have only the prescribed quantity of leaves used in forming the cakes, and to have the due proportion of opium put into each cake. An account of the weight of the drug when packed at the Patna and Ghazepore Factories, and a statement of the average weight of the chests, indiscriminately taken, for the purpose of comparison, from the despatches on arrival at Calcutta, may be seen on personal application at the Office of the Board of Revenue.

18.—Any further information respecting weight or quality of the opium advertised for sale that may be desired by parties connected with the trade will, as heretofore, be furnished to them on personal application at the Office of the Board of Revenue. But, in accordance with established usage, under no circumstances will the Board of Revenue entertain or recognize any claim to compensation for loss from any alleged deficiency of weight, abstraction of opium, or adulteration of the drug, which may be preferred on reference to chests after the sale and delivery of the opium for shipment.

By order of the Board of Revenue, L. P.,

K. G. GUPTA, Offg. Secretary.

The amount is due on account of June 1887 list from the separated share of Shamsar Narain Singh, who was advertised for sale but not sold, as the price offered by the auction-purchaser did not cover the demand, and a notice was issued to all the proprietors, but none paid the arrears. Hence, under order of 26th November 1887, all the separated shares of the estate have been encumbered and entire estate has been advertised for sale.

May, 29th	200	8vo dy 1st	1,000	Printed	1 9 0	Haradhan Mukharji, Arpara.	Written by a practical agriculturist. The work treats of the cultivation of paddy, wheat and pulses of various kinds. It is designed for the use of the agriculturists of Bengal. The writer attributes the loss of the productive power of the soil to the exportation of a large quantity of grain, which, if it had remained in the country, would have returned to the soil in some shape or other and increased its fertility.		6226

May, 9th	199	8vo dy	1st ...	1,000	ditto ...	1 2 0	Prish Chandra Masumdar, Calcutta.	This is a work written for the purpose of furthering the cause of Hindu revival. The scene is laid in the vicinity of the metropolitan city of Murshedabad about one hundred and fifty years ago. The principal characters are the Goswamis of the Baishab sect, and the great Tantrikas of the Sakta sect. The author seems to have studied the manners and customs of that period with great care. The pictures drawn by him of piety, devotion, domestic peace, self-sacrifice, &c., are calculated to give a better idea of the Hinduism of those days than can be gathered from any other work.	6261

RESOLUTION ON THE BOARD'S REPORT ON THE ROAD AND PUBLIC WORKS CESS OPERATIONS FOR THE PERIOD FROM THE 1ST OCTOBER 1886 TO THE 31ST MARCH 1887.

FINANCIAL DEPARTMENT—ROAD CESS.

Calcutta, the 6th December 1887.

RESOLUTION.

READ—

Letter from the Board of Revenue, No. 752A, dated the 29th October 1887, submitting the Report on Road and Public Works Cess operations for the period from the 1st October 1886 to the 31st March 1887.

The present report deals only with cess operations for a period of six months, from 1st October 1886 to the 31st March 1887. Formerly the annual report of the Board embraced a period of 12 months beginning from the 1st October in each year. But in consequence of the recent introduction of the Local Self-Government Act into most of the districts of the Lower Provinces, it has been decided that the Cess year shall coincide with the Financial year, and run from the 1st April to the 31st March, and it is the interval between the old and the new cess year that is now under review. For the districts of the Orissa Division only the report furnishes returns for the nine months last preceding the current financial year. The only districts in which the Local Self-Government Act is not yet in force are those of Darjeeling, Hazaribagh, Lohardugga, Manbhoom and Singbhoom.

2. Both the Road and Public Works Cesses were levied in all the districts in which Act IX (B.C.) of 1880 is in force at the maximum rates, except in the district of Backergunge, where the Public Works Cess was levied at full and the Road Cess at half rates. The figures contained in the Report under review being only for the half-year, no useful purpose would, the Board remark, be served by comparing them with the figures of previous years. The current demand for the half-year amounted to—

	Rs.
Road Cess	20,66,279
Public Works Cess	21,11,356
Total ...	41,77,635

The arrear balance outstanding on the 30th September 1886 amounted to Rs. 14,28,853. The gross demand for both cesses for the half-year thus amounted to (Rs. 41,77,635 + Rs. 14,28,853) Rs. 56,06,488, of which Rs. 40,21,956 were collected and Rs. 6,164 remitted, leaving an outstanding balance of Rs. 16,00,365 at the close of the half-year. The closing balance of the half-year under review was accordingly greater than its opening balance by (Rs. 16,00,365—Rs. 14,28,853) Rs. 1,71,512. The Lieutenant-Governor accepts the explanation offered by the Board that, as regards the current demand, there was hardly time to complete the collection of the kists which fell due on the 12th January and the 28th March in some districts.

3. In reviewing the report of the Board for the cess year 1885-86, the Board were requested to take measures to prevent large accumulations of arrears becoming a regular feature of the yearly returns. The conditions under which the present returns have been furnished are exceptional; but the Lieutenant-Governor trusts that in their report for the current year the Board will be able to show that the instructions given last year have been acted upon.

In 32 districts as against 17 in the previous year, the arrear collections during the half-year under review fell short of 90 per cent., and in nine of these the collections were below 60 per cent. This year as last year the Burdwan record is the worst. The question of a general revaluation of the district is under the consideration of Government, and the Board have recommended that at first a revaluation of lakhiraj holdings only should be made. The short collections in the districts of Durbhunga, Cuttack, Singbhoom, Chittagong and Moorshedabad have been sufficiently explained by the Board. Measures should be taken for realizing the dues from the sirdars of ghatwali estates in Bakkoora, and the nature of the new form of rent receipts should be clearly explained to the zemindars of Shahabad. The only district in which the whole of the arrear demand was collected was Hazaribagh. The results of the following districts as regards arrear collections are satisfactory: viz. Darjeeling (98.9), Julpigoree (97.5), Dinagepore (97.3), Purneah (96.8), Chumparun (96.1), Bogra (94.9), Maldah (94.3), Noakholly (93.4) and Lohardugga (91.1).

4. In addition to showing short arrear collections, the following districts failed to collect 60 per cent. of the current demand: viz. Singbhoom (nil) Chittagong (56.6), Mozufferpore (52.8), Dacca (59.3), Tipperah (58.1), Furreedpore (19.3) and Manbhoom (38.8). The general reasons assigned by the Board have been alluded to above. In Tipperah heavy floods spoil the harvests and interrupted collections.

In the following districts, though the arrear collections were not less than 90 per cent., the current collections were below that figure: Chumparun (63.2), Dinagepore (65.8), Maldah (69.5), Noakholly (75.4), Julpigoree (78.5), Bogra (84.4). The current collections of the following districts were good: Darjeeling (99.6), Lohardugga (98.9), Hazaribagh (92.4), and Purneah (92.4).

The advance collections during the half-year amounted to Rs. 1,83,900 against Rs. 1,70,178 in the corresponding period of 1885-86.

5. During the half-year 36,535 certificates were filed for the recovery of cess arrears, and, adding to this number the 35,240 pending at the close of 1885-86, the total number of certificates for disposal amounted to 71,775. The number of certificates disposed of was 38,651, leaving 33,154 pending at the end of March 1887. The sale of moveable and immoveable property was resorted to in about 1,259 cases. The number of objections filed against certificates was 1,348, of which 1,136 were disposed of. In 171 cases the certificates objected to were cancelled, and in 84 cases the amount certified was reduced. In Chota Nagpore, as usual, the smallest number of certificates were filed, viz. 259. Next comes the Rajshahye Division with 1,716. The largest numbers occur in the Patna and Burdwan Divisions—9,846 and 6,781 respectively.

6. A complete revaluation of the district of Pooree has resulted in an increase in the annual demand for cess by Rs. 11,144. Some mistakes are reported to have crept into the statement, which should be rectified at once. The only other districts in which revaluations have been attended by a substantial increase in revenue are Bogra, where an increase of Rs. 2,728 has been made in the cess demand, and Julpigoree, where 66 new tea gardens have been assessed at an annual total of Rs. 2,822. During the period under review, 1,977 separate accounts were opened under section 44 of the Act for Rs. 28,717 payable as cess. On the 31st March 1887 the number of accounts remaining open was 33,963 for Rs. 12,31,581 payable as cess. The number of separate accounts opened in revenue-free estates under section 46 of the Act was 20 for Rs. 533.

ORDER—Ordered that a copy of the Resolution, with a copy of the Board's Report, be submitted to the Government of India, Department of Finance and Commerce, for information.

Ordered also that a copy of the Resolution be forwarded to the Board of Revenue, and a copy of the Resolution and of the Report to the Revenue and Appointment Departments of Government, for information.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

COLMAN MACAULAY,

Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

RESOLUTION ON THE REPORT OF THE BOARD OF REVENUE ON WARDS' AND ATTACHED ESTATES IN THE LOWER PROVINCES FOR THE YEAR 1886-87.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT—LAND REVENUE.

Calcutta, the 16th December 1887.

RESOLUTION.

READ—

The Report of the Board of Revenue on Wards' and Attached Estates in the Lower Provinces for the year 1886-87.

The reports of the Commissioners were received by the Board after the prescribed date, except that for the Orissa Division which was punctually submitted. In the case of the Encumbered Estates in the Chota Nagpore Division the delay extended to the lengthened period of two months, and returns for two estates in the Presidency Division and one estate in Tipperah were not received in time for incorporation in the Board's tabular statement. No explanation of the delays on the part of the Managers concerned has been given, but the Lieutenant-Governor hopes that proper notice of the neglect has been taken by the Board in each case. In consequence of the late submission of returns, the figures given in the appendices to the Board's communication differ considerably from those given in the text which includes later information.

2. The report contains a great deal of matter which appears to be superfluous, and the Lieutenant-Governor has satisfied himself that in future years it may be reduced to about half its size without the omission of anything of real value. Curtailment of future report. In order to effect this curtailment, some departure will, however, be necessary from the traditional plan upon which the Court of Wards' annual reports have for many years been compiled. On this subject a separate communication will be addressed to the Board, pointing out in detail the alterations in the tabular forms inserted, and the modifications in the general arrangement by which it would appear that future reports can be made more concise.

3. The defect noticed in the Resolution on last year's report, viz., the failure of some Managers to pay Government revenue when they held funds available for the purpose, has received attention, and the arrears outstanding now are due only from estates temporarily insolvent. These arrears, though reduced in amount, are still considerable, exceeding as they do a lakh of rupees, and it is for the Board to consider whether such defaults cannot be prevented in future by timely arrangements to provide funds, by expediting collections, and by refusing to retain charge of defaulting estates some of the owners of which are of age and able to see to their own interests. The greater part of the balance is due from a single property, that of Sultangacha, of which the Court of Wards has voluntarily retained the management after two out of the three proprietors have attained their majority. The youngest of the sharers will soon be of age, and it is proposed to release the estate in April. The Lieutenant-Governor hopes that care will be taken to prevent any ultimate loss of revenue accruing to Government, and, if possible, to secure payment of public dues before the release of the estate.

4. The number of private estates under the management of the Revenue authorities during the year 1886-87 was 164; of these 87 were Wards' Estates and 77 Attached, including encumbered and trust estates. Collections. The rental of these estates for the year was Rs. 96,56,888, and the collections amounted to Rs. 90,98,928, or 94.2 per cent. on the current demand. The remissions amounted to Rs. 2,89,039, and the balances outstanding increased from Rs. 77,82,737 to Rs. 79,45,544. The percentage of collections is better than that of the three previous years, and the Lieutenant-Governor gladly welcomes any improvement in this important matter, which is, indeed, the foundation of all satisfactory management of Wards' Estates. He notices with particular satisfaction the good results which have in successive years been attained in the Chittagong Division, under circumstances of exceptional difficulty, by the care and attention of the chief revenue officers. It is, however, to be remembered that a large proportion of the land under the Court's management is let out, in putni or similar tenures, to middlemen who take on themselves all the trouble and risk of collection. On the estates managed directly, the proportion of realizations to rental seems unduly low, and the balances outstanding are very large. These results are produced by the short collections on certain estates, of which the Board instance two, Dhankoor and Srinagar, in the Dacca and Bhagulpore Divisions, on which the realizations are only 79 and 63 per cent. of the rental. It appears from correspondence before the Bengal Government that both these estates were left by their former proprietors without accounts showing in a trustworthy manner what rent was due yearly from each tenant. This confirms the statement, made by the Board in the annual report for the year 1884-85, that the really bad cases of failure to collect occur where the owners have left the accounts, which should show the rent due, in confusion, either the result of bad management, or purposely created to conceal unauthorized enhancement. Further evidence in support of this conclusion is afforded by the results obtained on other estates, the accounts of which are known to be in disorder, as the Cossimbazar Estate on which only 76 per cent. was realized, the Sunkerpore Estate and the Sultangacha Estate, with realizations of 88 per cent. and 67 per cent. respectively. The Board added in the report of 1884-85 that the only efficient remedy for the evil was to be found in making a survey and record of rights of the estates, in which this uncertainty as to the demand has prevailed, and in this also subsequent events have strengthened the conviction expressed. On the Dhankoor Estate, in Mymensingh, an attempt was made to adjust perplexed accounts, and make out a proper rent-roll without a survey, and in the report of the year 1885-86 it was stated that order had been restored. But it now appears that this allegation was prematurely accepted, as in the present report the Board state that the collections were only 79 per cent. of the rental, and that "until a general measurement of the lands is made, and a record of rights prepared under the Bengal Tenancy Act, correct rent-rolls cannot be prepared." Special attention is needed to this point since the passing of the Bengal Tenancy Act, which, by enforcing in an effectual manner the previous law requiring a landlord to indicate the amount of rent when giving a receipt, renders it more difficult to realise where the landlord does not know what his own rent is, or has not arrived at an understanding on the subject with his tenants. Moreover, one estate was during the year made over to the Court of Wards by the District Judge of Backergunge under section 95 (a) of the Act, precisely because it had got out of hand for want of accounts, and there may be other instances in the future of similar references. If the Act has accentuated the difficulty, it also supplies the remedy, by giving the means of authoritatively ascertaining and fixing rents at moderate cost.

5. The Board in the general section with this heading reproduce the orders passed during the year for future guidance. These orders inculcate greater activity in ascertaining rents where they are unknown, and collections suffer in consequence, as indicated in the last paragraph. From the notices of particular estates given in the Board's report, it appears that surveys were in progress in the Sunkerpore and Churamun Estates, Dinagapore district, and in the Chota Nagpore Division. In Sunkerpore it is said that the ryots, instead of throwing obstacles in the way of the operations which were conducted under the Bengal Tenancy Act by the Director of the Department of Agriculture and Land Records, agreed in a meeting to give free labour. Surveys have hitherto been unpopular in the majority of instances because they were made with a view to the enhancement of rent; but in the few cases in which they were conducted simply in order to ascertain existing rents for the benefit of all parties, there is no reason to believe that they were disliked by the ryots, although they must have been distasteful to the zemindari amlah, who are believed to find in uncertainty as to rentals, and the confusion of accounts, an opportunity for illicit profit.

6. The only information given under this heading is that the expenditure amounted to Rs. 69,662 against Rs. 54,763 in the preceding year, and larger sums in the three previous years. From the notices of estates it is gathered that in Churamun one ryot succeeded so well with Buxar wheat, to the superior quality of which the Agricultural Department has drawn prominent attention, that applications have been received from several villages on the river banks for a supply of seed which the Manager has undertaken to furnish. The Beheea sugar-cane mills have been introduced in several places. As an illustration of the slowness with which the most profit-giving improvements are adopted, the following statement is made by the Collector of Rungpore:

"In 1881-82 two Beheea sugar-cane mills were purchased by the estate, and, although they were lent to the people free of cost, they would not use them. But it is satisfactory to observe that their aversion has gradually disappeared. During the last sugar-cane season both of these mills were incessantly at work and earned a sum of Rs. 1234 as hiro. A well-to-do ryot has also purchased a mill for his own use at a cost of Rs. 1000 and it seems probable that these mills will come into general use in a few years' time."

Other attempts to introduce Buxar wheat, superior ploughs, and bone manure were unsuccessful. It is understood that these attempts were made on the part of the Agricultural Department, and that the trifling cost involved did not fall on the estates. Where this is the case, the Managers should not be discouraged because the first efforts made obtain only negative results, such being the necessary issue of the majority of agricultural experiments. In these cases a single success more than compensates for many failures. The real expenditure on improvements is incurred in digging tanks, sluices, and similar works, and the Lieutenant-Governor would be in future annual reports some information as to the results outlay. The execution of such works is a branch of their duties in which many Managers are imperfectly trained, and require sympathetic assistance.

7. The management charges of the year, under which are included the pay of the Manager and of his establishment, construction and repairs of cutcherry buildings, and charges for survey and settlement, came to Rs. 9,48,692, or about 10 per cent. of the current rent and cess demand. This percentage is below the average of the last four years, but it is favourably affected by the single estate of the Burdwan Raj, which is managed at a small proportionate cost, being for the most part let out at quit-rents on the putni system.

8. The litigation of Wards' Estates in the year under review has been noticed in the Resolution on the report submitted by the Superintendent and Remembrancer of Legal Affairs. The results, in so far as regards the number of cases decided in favour of the estates, would have been satisfactory but for the decision against the Dighapaten Estate of 210 suits instituted by the Manager. Appeals have been preferred in those cases. The percentage of recovery on decrees was exceedingly bad, and it is noticed that while Rs. 2,44,632 were spent in litigation during the year, only Rs. 1,63,806 were recovered under decrees.

Condition of the tenantry.

9. The Board make the following remarks on the condition of the tenantry during the year:—

"The year under report was one of general average prosperity for the ryots on the estates under the Court of Wards throughout the Province. There were, as usual, some local calamities in the form of outbreaks of cholera and floods. Special mention is made of the latter in the Patna, Bhagulpore, Chittagong and Dacca Divisions. The Serail ryots of the Cossimbazar Estate suffered severely from the overflow of the Megna in August 1886, which resulted in extensive damage to the jute and aus harvests; but no organized measures of relief were required: a sum of Rs. 600 was sanctioned by the Board to tide the tenantry over their immediate distress. The reports of these and similar occurrences naturally dwell with more vividness on the present sufferings than on the recuperative power inherent in the rural population; the destruction of a harvest is depicted in striking colours, but little or no mention is made of the benefit accruing to the future crops from the passing inundation. The Kanika ryots are said to be still to some extent feeling the effects of the cyclone and storm-wave of 1885. In a few instances there were local opposition and disputes on the subject of rent, and in the Dhanwar Estate in Chota Nagpore a feeling of unrest arising from the long protracted resettlement operations was manifest; this should subside now that the proceedings have been completed and the confirmation of Government has been received. The attitude of the ryots is Conservative with regard to the adoption of any suggested improvement in new staples, but there are some indications of a more enlightened spirit which give hope for the future. There is every reason to suppose that the ryots on the estates under notice form a prosperous and contented peasantry."

Education of Wards.

10. With regard to the education of Wards the Board's report is generally satisfactory.

Burdwan estate.

11. The principal estate under management during the year was that of the Burdwan Raj, with a current demand of Rs. 45,65,865, and liability on account of revenue, &c., of Rs. 34,82,162. The collections amounted to 98.2 per cent. of the current demand. It was noticed in last year's Resolution that two important questions in connection with this property were under discussion—the adoption of an heir by the widow proprietor, and the settlement of disputes as to property with the Dowager Maharani. The first matter was decided in July last by the Lieutenant-Governor giving his consent to the adoption by Maharani Benodeyi I vi of the only son of Lala Bun Behari, and the second by the execution of a deed of compromise, the terms of which are now being carried out.

12. The thanks of the Lieutenant-Governor are conveyed to the Board for their careful supervision of Wards' estates during the year.

Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

RESOLUTION ON ADMINISTRATION OF THE DEPARTMENT OF LAND RECORDS AND AGRICULTURE FOR THE YEAR 1886-87.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT—AGRICULTURE.

Calcutta, the 19th December 1887.

RESOLUTION.

READ—

The Director's report of the Department of Land Records and Agriculture for the year 1886-87.

The Director was employed during the year on surveying, with a view to settlement, the Government estates of Nulcheera and Angul, the Wards' estates of Sunkerpore and Churamon, and in making a survey and record of rights in a tract, the property of private persons, in the district of Mozufferpore, the whole area of which amounted to 1,845 square miles. The latter operations were of the nature of an experiment, conducted at the public expense, with a view to ascertaining how far it might be practicable and desirable to carry out similar operations on a large scale, and at the cost of the locality benefited. Although only a small portion of the area originally selected was not measured, the object with a view to which the task was undertaken seems to have been obtained, inasmuch as the results have been shown, so far as a conclusion can be drawn in a matter of this kind from a single instance, that the difficulties in the way of such operations are not insuperable. It was moreover found that in the great majority of villages much uncertainty existed as to the amount of the existing rent, so that positive good was done by ascertaining and making an authentic record of what was before indeterminate. No formal applications were made for the enhancement of rent, which was, however, in some instances, raised by private agreement between the parties. On the whole, the experience gained is favourable to the prosecution of the work of survey and record, but it appears desirable, in view of the Secretary of State's decision conveyed in the Government of India's letter No. 603R—27-11, dated the 3rd September 1886, to confine this, for the present at least, to estates the property of Government, or on which those interested appreciate and offer to pay for the advantages of a settlement. Even within these limits it is anticipated that employment will be found during the next cold season for the whole of the trained agency which Government can command. The conduct of these settlements now constitutes the principal duty of the Director of the Department of Land Records and Agriculture, an appointment which has recently been made permanent with the sanction of the Secretary of State.

2. Enquiries were made during the year by Mr. A. C. Sen and Mr. Sakhawat Hossein as to the agricultural practices of the districts of Dacca and Mymensingh.

Analysis of districts. These investigations should be made, and their statistical results recorded in such a manner as to be of use in connection with the revision now being made of the Gazetteer of Bengal. Mr. Sen has made a very high estimate of the agricultural capabilities of the large tract of land which forms and surrounds the Madhupore jungle, and considers it particularly suitable for the cultivation of sugarcane, cotton, rhea, and mulberry; but for want of capital and enterprise its resources remain at present undeveloped.

3. Much anxiety has been felt by those interested in the silk industry in Bengal on account of the spread of diseases among silkworms, particularly of what is known as kata, and is pronounced by Mr. Wood-Mason to be the same as the pebrine, which has in recent times broken out in an epidemic form in Europe. A French expert, Monsieur Clement, has recently been engaged for two years to investigate and deal with the subject upon the system introduced by Monsieur Pasteur. In the meanwhile, Mr. N. G. Mookerjee, a Cirencester scholar, has been engaged on the work; his labours are, as the Lieutenant-Governor ascertained when on tour, much appreciated by those able to form a judgment, and seem to have met with some actual success. The Director states that—

* The native rearers have shown a preference for the seed reared and examined by Mr. Mookerjee to that reared in the ordinary way, and the expense of buying, according to his advice, untainted mulberry leaf at a high price, rejecting leaf in their possession, which is believed to be tainted, by use on the land, on which it was grown, of manure containing excreta of diseased silkworms. Mr. Mookerjee now thinks that he has eradicated disease from his experimental Madras stock, and he is probably right; but it remains to be decided by the expert from Europe, who is soon expected, whether he has really done so. If it should prove that he has, then the question of the extension of the methods adopted by him will have to be carefully considered. Enquiries are also being made on the subject of the natural history and ravages of the silkworm fly, of which little is at present known."

4. The cost to Government of the agricultural enquiries and experiments conducted during the year, including the distribution of implements and seeds, was Rs. 6,860.

Some work of this nature was also done by private individuals, particularly by the Maharajah of Doomraon, at their own expense, but with the assistance of the Department. The results obtained were, in many instances, valuable rather for future comparison than for immediate application. It is stated that Mr. Sen sold during the year under report more than a hundred maunds of bone-meal to ryots of the villages in which he had distributed small quantities gratis during the previous year, and that the purchasers are keenly watching the effects of the manure. The introduction of the superior Buxar wheat into Bhagulpore was not so successful this year as last, but nevertheless it appears to be in that Division an improvement likely to have permanent results. Beyond Bhagulpore the seed has not hitherto done well. It is stated that 486 of the improved Burrakar ploughs were sold during the year, but that they have not in general been very favourably received, as they require strong bullocks to work them, and cannot be used for paddy cultivation. Further efforts are being made to supply a plough adapted to the peculiar conditions of agriculture in this country. As to improving the breed of cattle Mr. Finucane remarks:—

"Two Hissar bulls were supplied for use on the Government estates in Arrah and Sassem, and two half-bred English bulls were presented to Government by Dr. Greenhill. Of these, one, out of a fine country cow by Zoolob, an imported Jersey bull, has been made over to the Manager of the Burdwan Raj, and the other, out of a fine Hansy cow by an imported Durham bull, was given to the Arrah Municipality, that body having undertaken to provide for the maintenance and custody of the animal, and to report through their Chairman whether any improvement in the local breed of cattle may be effected by means of it. These are but isolated and insignificant efforts, but to anybody who is acquainted with the improvement effected by Mr. Tayler, when Commissioner of Patna, in the breed of cattle in that locality by the introduction of one or two English bulls—an improvement which is visibly marked up to this day—it will be apparent that even isolated efforts of this kind may effect some good and if other municipalities and public bodies would follow the example set by the Arrah Municipality, and would interest themselves in seizing and weeding out such of those wretched country bulls as are diseased, and now roam about spreading disease wherever they go, and if they would keep for public use, in local pounds or elsewhere, a suitable and superior class of sires, which might be procured for them at their expense by Government, much might be effected towards improving the breed of cattle in these Provinces, without entailing any expenditure on the State."

This is a subject to which the attention of Agricultural officers is invited with a view to further suggestions, for the guidance of zemindars and others who take an interest in improving the breed of cattle. It is understood that sires are now generally provided by individuals who do not seek any profit for themselves, but to benefit the public, and to observe a custom to some extent connected with religion. Persons acting from such motives would probably be in many instances amenable to well-considered advice. The Director expresses himself much indebted to the Chamber of Commerce for the cordial co-operation and the ready aid they have rendered in appraising the value of different samples of wheat; in furnishing valuable information and suggestions regarding various economic products, and also in preparation of forecasts. The Agri-Horticultural Society also gave some assistance in procuring samples of economic products.

5. The thanks of the Lieutenant-Governor are given to Mr. Finucane for his efficient performance of his duties during the year. He states that all the officers employed in the Department continued to give satisfaction.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

P. NOLAN,

Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

The following communication is published for general information.

P. NOLAN,
Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

METEOROLOGICAL SUMMARY OF THE MONSOON PERIOD OF 1887.

THE following remarks are intended to give a very brief history of the more important features which have characterised the south-west monsoon period and the preceding months of 1887 in the province of Bengal.

The month of January was very remarkable from the fact that no less than five barometric depressions, which were formed in Upper India, advanced over Bengal and gave moderate rain. The third of these storms lasting from 19th January to the 22nd, was one of the largest which has been known to have been formed since the meteorology of India has been studied, and in addition to the heavy rainfall it brought over Bengal, it would appear that it gave rise to heavy snowfall along the Himalayas, and the fall at Darjeeling was the largest experienced for many years. January was therefore characterised by rainfall very much larger than the normal, a mean temperature very decidedly lower than usual, and with very large fluctuations, and a pressure rather considerably below the normal. The effect of the heavy snowfall in the hills to the north of Bengal in January seems to have shown itself in the particularly low temperatures which were recorded in February, and the mean temperature in this month was exceptionally low; rainfall was, however, practically absent, while pressure, though showing some remarkable oscillations during the month, was on the average nearly equal to the normal.

At the end of February strong southerly moist winds were blowing across the Bengal and Orissa coasts towards an area of low pressure in the north-east of the province, and local storms or nor'westers commenced in North and East Bengal early in March. Hot weather conditions became established over the whole of Bengal about the same time, and during the middle and the end of the month disturbed conditions, accompanied by local storms and rain, set in over the whole province, and the rainfall in March was decidedly large in all districts, except Chutia Nagpur. The mean pressure for the month in March was below the normal, while the temperature variations were extremely large, though the mean temperature was nearly normal. The principal feature of interest in April was that the mean temperature was decidedly lower than usual, and that rainfall in Orissa, South-West and East Bengal was considerably below the normal, though in other districts there was a slight excess fall. In this month, however, the mean pressure was decidedly in excess.

The earlier part of May presented no features of much importance; local storms were fairly numerous, but the rainfall brought up by them was rather light, as the majority of these storms were not of a violent character. About the middle of May the usual inrush of strong south-westerly monsoon winds took place in the south of the Bay, which advanced up the centre of the Bay as far as the Andaman Islands, and on the 19th a cyclonic storm commenced to form in front of this inrush, which afterwards developed and strengthened rapidly, and then travelled in a north-westerly direction, striking the Orissa coast close to Balasore on the morning of the 26th. It subsequently passed through Chutia Nagpur into South Behar, where it dispersed on the 28th. The intense area of the cyclone was of very small size, but the storm was remarkably fierce near its centre, and it caused much destruction. The inrush of monsoon winds following after the storm spread over Bengal, and gave general and heavy rainfall over the whole of the province, the rainfall being particularly heavy near the track of the centre, and generally the rainfall in May was about twice as large as usual. Owing to the influence of the storm the mean pressure of May was decidedly below the normal, though temperature was rather above it. This inrush of monsoon winds following the cyclone cannot be taken to have been the commencement of the rainy season in Bengal; for with dispersion of the storm, conditions became again almost those of winter weather, and thus the monsoon rains did not commence at what has been an abnormally early period.

The main features of interest in the meteorology of the monsoon period to the rains appear to have been, first the occurrence the Himalayan region to the north of Bengal. It is apparently now established that an unusual accumulation of snow in the Himalayas tends to retard the advance of the south-west monsoon humid current over Upper India, and hence to diminish considerably the rainfall of the south-west monsoon season. Thus the existence of this condition rendered it possible, or even probable, that the monsoon current in 1887 would not establish itself in Bengal till rather later than usual, and that it would be rather feeble, and, as a matter of fact, the current did not establish itself till a week later than the average date of commencement; throughout its existence it was weak, and finally it retired considerably earlier than usual. The second point of interest was that temperature had generally been decidedly below the normal (possibly also caused by the heavy snowfall in the Himalayas), and for certainly three or nearly four months out of the five, the mean temperature was distinctly in defect. Pressure had also been in defect, but not quite to the same extent, while on the other hand the rainfall of three or four out of the five months had been decidedly larger than the normal.

The inrush of the humid winds, due to the advance of the Balasore cyclone, having died away at the end of May and commencement of June, rainfall to a great extent ceased over the province. In the Bay, however, another strong advance of monsoon winds took place during the early part of June, and a cyclonic storm was formed off the Pegu coast on about the 10th. The storm drifted slowly in a westerly direction, and crossed the south Orissa and Ganjam coasts to the south of Gopalpore on the night of the 13th and morning of the 14th. The storm was of considerable intensity, and after it had passed inland, the monsoon winds gradually advanced over Bengal, and rainfall commenced in the southern districts on the 13th, and gradually spread inland, reaching Behar on the 15th. This advance initiated the rains in Bengal which were thus a few days later than usual in establishing themselves, and though the wind velocity registered during the month was approximately normal, rainfall was decidedly below it in all districts, except North Bengal and North Behar where it was considerably above it. Besides the above storm which crossed the South Orissa coast, there was only one other feeble barometric depression in June which formed over the Sunderbuns, and which passed through West Bengal into Behar, giving heavy rain in its advance.

In July the south-west monsoon current, considered as a rain-bearing current, was again weak, and except in South West Bengal, which received a normal fall, rainfall was very decidedly in defect in all districts. Four barometric depressions were formed in this month, and passed through Bengal. These were generally rather feeble, though they brought up moderate rain. One of them passed through Bengal into the North-West Provinces, while another, which was generated over the head of the Bay of Bengal, advanced through Bengal and Central India into Sind, and disappeared in Beluchistan, and thus it travelled over a distance of at least fifteen or sixteen hundred miles quite unbroken.

In August again rainfall was below the normal in all districts, except North Behar. In this month only one barometric depression of any importance was formed, and during its formation there was a distinct break in the rains in Bengal, which lasted almost a week from the 12th up to about the 19th, but when the depression passed inland near Gopalpore good general rain was again received over the province. In August wind velocities were decidedly smaller than usual at the majority of stations, pointing clearly to the fact that the monsoon, blowing from the Bay of Bengal, was a feeble one. In September also rainfall was remarkably light, the general fall not being larger than about 74 per cent. of the normal, and during the month only three very feeble barometric depressions were formed in the Bay, which passed over Bengal. The most important point, however, was that in the latter half of September the monsoon current diminished in strength very rapidly, and at the close of the month, the current from the Bay of Bengal had almost ceased to flow over to the province. This burst of rainfall resulted from the formation of a cyclonic storm in the south of the Bay which crossed the coast a little to the north of Madras. The disturbed conditions then advanced northwards and brought up a fresh advance of the south-west monsoon and a wave of moist winds, bringing heavy rainfall, flooded over the province, and for about a week during the middle of October, good general rain was received in all districts. The moist winds were, however, again driven back, and from the 16th rain practically entirely ceased over the province up till the end of October and commencement of November, when again moderate rain was brought up to the southern districts by the disturbed conditions accompanying another cyclonic storm which advanced towards the Madras coast. Rainfall was, however, rather largely below the normal in October in all districts, except North Behar, though from the fact that the rain in October occurred just at the most critical time when it was urgently required, it was more valuable than if a larger amount had fallen at a different period.

Speaking generally with reference to the monsoon of 1887, it may be said that the current blowing from the Arabian Sea was very much stronger than usual. This caused the current blowing from the Bay over Bengal to become more westerly in direction than in normal years. The rainfall bearing current was therefore deflected from Bengal, probably towards the Burmah coast, and the combination of the strong westerly current blowing, with the fact that the current from the Bay of Bengal was weak throughout its existence, caused the south-west monsoon current to retreat from Bengal, at least ten or fifteen days earlier than usual. The Bay of Bengal current was thus late in establishing itself, feeble while it lasted, and it retreated much earlier than usual.

The occurrence and general distribution of the monsoon rainfall of 1887 has been thus briefly described, and it only remains to state more fully, month by month, the variation of the district rainfall from the normal fall as shown in the detailed figures in the monthly Meteorological Reports. In the results thus obtained due allowance has been made for the area which each rainfall reporting station represents, which method of calculation it may be assumed gives very reliable figures.

In the month of May the rainfall was mainly brought up by the Balasore cyclone, and by the inrush of monsoon winds following in its rear. Rainfall was exceptionally heavy in South Behar and Chutia Nagpur: South Behar receiving about four times the normal fall, and Chutia Nagpur about three times the usual amount. Orissa, North Behar (except Chumparun) and North Bengal (except Pubna) received amounts largely in excess of the normal, and in South-West Bengal the fall was also in excess but only by about one-third of the usual quantity, though in this district Jessore and 24 Pergunnahs showed decidedly defective falls. The only large district which received a deficient fall was East Bengal, where the general defect equalled 29 per cent., but in the Furreedpore, Dacca, and Commilla districts, the falls were 40 per cent. in defect. In June, which is the first month of the actual south-west monsoon period, the whole of the Province, except North Bengal and North Behar, was in defect, and, as is frequently the case, the distribution of the rainfall in June roughly foretold the distribution of the whole monsoon season, for, while on the average of the whole monsoon season North Bengal has received a fall in slight excess of the normal and North Behar has received a normal fall, all other districts have shown defects as they did in June. The excess fall in North Bengal and North Behar in June was equalled from about 20 up to 50 per cent. of the normal, except in Rajshahye and Sarun, where the falls were slightly defective. This determination of the rainfall to Behar and North Bengal and to the Moorshedabad district was a prominent feature in the distribution of the monsoon rainfall of 1887. The general defects in the other large districts of the province varied from about 20 to 35 per cent. of the normal falls, but in some of the smaller districts the deficiency was even more serious, and defects larger than 35 per cent. were reported in the following districts:—Pooree, Balasore, Howrah, Burdwan, Chittagong, Back Noakholly, Shahabad, Lohardugga, and Manbhoom. The defective falls in this month in such districts as Chittagong and Noakholly was no less than about 10 inches of rain, while defects were reported in the Rungpore and Julpigoree districts.

In July the general falls in Orissa, South-West Bengal, and Chutia Nagpur were about equal to the normal, though the Pooree, Jessore, Nuddea, and Manbhoom districts showed defects. East Bengal and South Behar showed defects of about 20 per cent., while North Bengal and North Behar received falls about 40 per cent. less than the normal, thus to a certain extent neutralizing the heavy falls in June. In this month extremely large defects were shown in North Bhagulpore, Purneah, Julpigoree, Rungpore, and Commilla districts, the defects generally equalling about half the normal fall.

In August North Behar received a fall 11 per cent. in excess of the normal, North Bengal and Chutia Nagpur received about normal falls, while South-West and East Bengal, Orissa, and South Behar received defective falls varying from about 20 to 30 per cent. from the normal. In this month the smaller districts which were most largely in defect, and where the defect usually exceeded about 40 per cent. of the normal fall, were Howrah, Hooghly, Jessore, Furreedpore, Pubna, Bogra, and Maldah.

In September the defective rainfall which had characterised the previous monsoon months became still more strongly marked. Not a single large division of the province received a fall even within 10 per cent. of the normal. South-West Bengal and North Bengal received falls from 10 to 15 per cent. in defect. Over the whole of Behar and Chutia Nagpur the defects were from 20 to 30 per cent., while over the whole of Orissa and East Bengal the defects were from 40 to 50 per cent. of the normal fall. Defects of more than 50 per cent. were registered in the districts of Balasore, Furreedpore and Dacca, while in the Commilla district the defect amounted to more than 70 per cent. of the usual fall.

In October, as has been previously stated, the rainfall was brought up by the occurrence of a small cyclonic storm which crossed the Coast near Madras, and, though the rainfall of October was generally largely below the normal, from the fact that it occurred at a critical period when it was most urgently wanted, its value was immensely increased. In October only one large district, North Behar, received an excess fall amounting to about 30 per cent., while in South Behar the fall was almost normal; South-West, East, and North Bengal received falls from about 20 to 25 per cent. in defect of the normal; in Orissa the defect was nearly 40 per cent., and in Chutia Nagpur the defect was from 50 to 60 per cent. The defects in the following smaller districts indeed equalled 60 per cent. and upwards:—Cuttack, Howrah, Burdwan, Bankoora and Cooch Behar, while in Singbhoom the defect was about 90 per cent. of the usual rainfall.

The most important features of the monsoon season of 1887 may be thus briefly summed up—

1. Abundant rainfall was brought up in May by the passage of a fierce cyclone through Orissa and Chutia Nagpur into Behar, and the rainfall brought up by the storm particularly when it broke up in Behar and North Bengal, was so heavy that almost the precise path of the cyclone is marked out by the fact that the general rainfall in those districts from May to October has been either almost normal or in excess of the normal, while the remainder of the province has received a defective fall during this period.

2. The actual monsoon current from the Bay of Bengal was about a week late in setting in over the Province, it was rather feeble throughout its existence, and retired about ten days earlier than usual, while the Arabian Sea current was stronger than usual, and deflected the Bay of Bengal monsoon current away from Bengal to the eastward.

3. The monsoon period was rather free from the formation of barometric depressions of any importance in the Bay, though several small and persistent whirls were formed at the head of the Bay, which deflected the rain-bearing current away from the land.

4. There was a distinct determination of the rainfall towards the north of the Province to Behar and North Bengal, while Orissa, parts of the Chutia Nagpur and West Bengal and East Bengal in particular received extremely little, and thus in East Bengal the average fall from May to October was less than the normal, in Orissa it was 9.60 inches less than the normal, in West Bengal and Chutia Nagpur it was about 5 inches less than the normal.

5. The rainfall which occurred in the middle of October, and which was brought up by a cyclonic storm after the monsoon current had practically retired from the province was very important, as, though only moderate in amount, the rainfall came when it was urgently wanted.

6. The following tables give briefly the amount and variation of the rainfall in each of the seven meteorological divisions of the province, month by month:—

QUARTERLY INSPECTIONS OF THE KIDDERPORE DOCK WORKS.

SECOND REPORT.

Dated Calcutta, the 5th December 1887.

From—T. H. WICKES, Esq., AND H. CLÖRTE, Esq.,

To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Public Works Department.

WE have the honour to report that, in accordance with the instructions contained in the orders of the Government of Bengal No. 1945 M.P.I., dated the 21st ultimo, we made the second quarterly inspection of the works in progress at the Kidderpore Docks on the 29th idem.

2. The enclosed tabular statement and index plan, submitted by the Superintending Engineer of the Docks, show the work done during the quarter and the total amount executed from the commencement.

3. It must be remembered that this report has reference to the quarter ending the 30th of September last, that is to say, to a time when the works were necessarily retarded by the rainy season and by the annual Doorga Poojah holidays. The progress was consequently much less than in the previous quarter, but was greater than the Superintending Engineer in charge of the works had anticipated.

4. The condition of the works on the 30th of September last was as briefly described below:—

TEMPORARY WORKS AND PLANT.

The trucks in hand were found to be insufficient for the removal of spoil and the carriage of materials; but as the Superintending Engineer was enabled to hire a number from the East Indian Railway, we are informed that no actual inconvenience to the work resulted. The Dock Tramway and the Garden Reach road were diverted from their previous direction and now cross the completed portions of the walls of the tidal basin, so that further change will not be necessary for a considerable time.

PERMANENT WORKS.

Acquisition of Land.—Though all the land required had not been absolutely handed over, no inconvenience on this account was experienced.

Sixty-foot Lock.—Progress was made with the excavation of the open cutting, 960,000 cubic feet of earthwork were executed and arrangements completed for commencing the timbered trench when the required level was reached.

Tidal Basin.—The portions of the east and west walls which were founded in the previous quarter were nearly completed to their full height; the quantity of masonry executed in them during the quarter being 134,90 cubic feet: 875,652 cubic feet of earth were also excavated.

Dock No. 1.—During the quarter 1,491,052 cubic feet of earthwork and 398,461 cubic feet of masonry were executed; and 257 running feet of quay wall founded.

Boat Canal.—The work on the boat canal was practically suspended owing to the rainy season.

Expenditure.—The total outlay up to the end of the quarter was Rs. 63,82,17, of which Rs. 42,09,898 were for works and Rs. 1,72,719 on account of land.

SANITARY.

The health of the work-people was very satisfactory. The average number employed was 4,141, amongst whom there were only eight deaths reported.

GENERAL REMARKS.

Taking into consideration the season of the year covered by the report, we are of opinion that good progress was made with the works in general, and that so far as we have been able to judge from our inspection, the character of the work is all that could be desired.

KIDDERPORE DOCK WORKS.

PROGRESS REPORT FOR THE QUARTER ENDING 30TH SEPTEMBER 1887.

In consequence of the season and the interruption caused by the Doorga Poojahs, considerably less work was done than had been accomplished during the previous quarter.

On the Tidal Basin, on the diversion of the Garde Reach road and the Dock tramways from their previous direction leading across the site of the double entrance to that crossing the middle of the tidal basin, and the portions of the east and west walls built during the previous quarter was nearly completed. The excavation of the open cutting for the 60 feet lock was pushed on vigorously and all arrangements made for commencing the timbered trenches as soon as the required level was reached.

On Dock No 1 the walls were proceeded with and a length of 257 feet was founded, and considerable progress made in the superstructure of the walls, the foundation for which had been previously got in.

Work on the excavation of the Boat Canal was interrupted by the rainy season.

The plan and tabular statement annexed show the details of the progress made in the various items of work.

The following table shows the number of men employed and their sanitary condition:—

CALCUTTA, the 20th December 1887.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL FOR THE WEEK ENDING FRIDAY, THE 16TH OF DECEMBER 1887.

The meteorology of the previous two weeks in Bengal has been particularly free from any abnormal conditions, and the same remark applies to the meteorology of the present week. Normal north-east monsoon conditions have obtained over the whole of Bengal, skies have been practically cloudless, temperature and humidity have been low, and pressure has been decidedly high. A fairly strong northerly current has blown almost uninterruptedly in all districts, and there have been only slight variations in its direction and velocity throughout the week. There have again been no barometric depressions formed over Northern India, and as such disturbances at this season are the principal sources of change in the weather in Bengal, conditions throughout the week have remained practically unaltered. In the Bay also the general conditions have been quiet, though in the south of the Bay a decidedly strong north-easterly monsoon current has been blowing, which has given somewhat squally weather and rough sea with, in several cases, heavy rain along the South Madras coast and in Ceylon, but these conditions have, if anything, only strengthened the cold-weather conditions in Bengal.

Pressure.—The variations of pressure have again been very small during the week and of the usual slight oscillatory character noticeable during fine settled weather. In previous weeks a very considerable excess pressure has been registered, but during this week, taking into consideration only those stations from which records have been received for a number of years, the mean pressure of the whole province has only been 0·010 inch in excess of the normal. The same feature of relatively higher pressure in the north of the province still continues, and thus, while at Durbhunga the mean pressure has been 0·033 inch in excess of the normal, and at Purneah the excess has been 0·028 inch, in the extreme south of the province pressure has even been below the normal, the defect at Chittagong being 0·006 inch and at False Point 0·002 inch.

Temperature.—The variations of temperature during the week have also not been large, and over the greater part of the province temperature has been below the normal. The mean temperature of the whole province for the week has been about 0·7° in defect of the normal, but the defects have been largest in East Bengal and Orissa: in the former district the defect has equalled the large amount of 2·2°, and in Orissa it has been 1·2°.

The data given in the following table will show clearly the temperature variations in different parts of the province. In this table the actual average maximum, minimum and mean temperatures for the week at nine typical stations in different districts of the province are given, and compared with the normal for the period. At six out of the nine stations, maximum temperature has been slightly in excess of the normal, while at seven stations the minimum temperature has been below the normal. Minimum temperatures below 50° have been recorded during the week in all districts except South-West Bengal.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph and from observations made at 6h, 10h, 16h and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newman's No. 3 formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

12.—The officer superintending the sale on the part of the Government is empowered to reject, at his discretion the bid of any individual, unless such individual shall on demand tender at the time a deposit either in Government of India Notes, Bank of Bengal Receipts, or Government Securities, a sum equal to the amount for which a Promissory Note would otherwise be taken under the fifth of these conditions.

13.—With a view to prevent fictitious biddings designed to obstruct the sale, it is hereby notified that the officer of Government superintending the sale shall be competent, at any time during the sale, to withdraw any unsold lot, and immediately to put it up again for sale at a maximum upset price, diminishing the same gradually until a bid is obtained; and the first bona fide bidder for a lot after it has been offered for sale in the mode here described shall be held and declared to be the purchaser of the said lot, and the officer of Government superintending the sale shall also be competent to dispose, in the same manner, of as many of the subsequent lots as he may think proper, provided always that no lot shall be sold below the minimum price of Rs. 800 specified in the second of these conditions.

14.—The purchaser of any lot shall have the option of naming and purchasing in immediate succession, at the same price and under the same conditions, any number of lots of the same Agency opium not exceeding altogether twenty-five lots, provided always that there remain a sufficient number of lots of the opium to complete the said twenty-five.

15.—In the event of any dispute or difference touching or concerning any matter or question arising out of the sale of the opium included in this notification, or adjustment of the account thereof, the same shall and may be tried and decided in the High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal.

16.—The following papers will be exhibited for inspection on the day of sale, or may be seen previously to that date by personal application at the Office of the Board of Revenue:—No. 1, certificate of the opium advertised for sale; No. 2, report of the examination of such opium.

17.—The public are hereby informed that in providing the investment of the opium manufactured at the Patna Factory and the opium manufactured at the Ghazee-pore Factory for the year 1886-87, the same precautions have been taken as those which have been observed during past years to have the drug procured and sent down in a pure state, to have only the prescribed quantity of leaves used in forming the cakes, and to have the due proportion of opium put into each cake. An account of the weight of the drug when packed at the Patna and Ghazee-pore Factories, and a statement of the average weight of the chests, indiscriminately taken, for the purpose of comparison, from the despatches on arrival at Calcutta, may be seen on personal application at the Office of the Board of Revenue.

18.—Any further information respecting weight or quality of the opium advertised for sale that may be desired by parties connected with the trade will, as heretofore, be furnished to them on personal application at the Office of the Board of Revenue. But, in accordance with established usage, under no circumstances will the Board of Revenue entertain or recognize any claim to compensation for loss from any alleged deficiency of weight, abstraction of opium, or adulteration of the drug, which may be preferred on reference to chests after the sale and delivery of the opium for shipment.
